POLO GROUNDS, New York, Oct. 8.—Some 40,000 persons surged into the vast reaches of the Polo grounds today to witness the first struggle of the New York Giants, pennant winners of the National league, and the Boston Red Sox, champions of the American league, for the premier title in baseball, "the world's championship."

Mayor Gaynor of New York and Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston laid aside the cares of officialdom and joined in the cheering for their respective teams. The mayors sat together in an upper tier box. A day of sunshine and Indian summer warmth was the pleasant portion of players and spectators. Not a cloud fleeted the sky and the players agreed that it was a rare day for the sport.

Excited and anxious "fans" gathered before nightfall to secure the first choice of seats in the lower grandstand and backfield bleachers. But there was no need for the all-night line, for when the gates were opened and the early enthusiasts had been taken care of, 25,000 seats were still to be had. All morning spectators poured through the turnstiles, then divided and trickled off through the aisles of the big steel and concrete stands to seats of vantage. The lower grandstand was filled at noon. The upper stands being reserved, were the last to fill and the teams had about finished their practice when the last spectators passed through the clicking turnstile.

Back of the Red Sox bench was crowded the "fans" from Boston. They were there to cheer and yell and they did it with a lustiness that vied with the cries from the New York crowd. A brass band perched in a stand near the left field bleachers blew fanfares that was drowned out by the constantly cheering crowd.

The national commission held a meeting this morning and gave their final instructions to the umpires. That the game might be started promptly at two o'clock the umpires were instructed to hold their conferences with the captains ten minutes before the time of calling play.

Presented An Auto

The Giants came onto the field at 12:30 o'clock, led by Manager John McGraw, who waved his hand as the crowd cheered. The Giants wore their home uniforms of white, with thin black stripes. Larry Doyle, the Giants' captain, was presented with an automobile. The Giants then began their batting practice.

The Red Sox came on the field five minutes later and were given a hearty cheer. The Boston players warmed up along the sidelines while an array of photographers flocked over the field snapping the ball players in pose and at practice.

During the preliminary exercises of the players the crowd gave vent to its enthusiasm by cheering the team members. The lower grandstand was black with people and as soon as the back alleys began to choke with the throng the autos were closed. There were only a few bare spots in the field bleachers. The Boston delegation, waving red flags with the aid of a brass band helped to keep on edge the feverish excitement of the crowd.

It was announced that Terreau and Meyers would be the batteries for New York and Wood and Cady for Boston.

The Umpires

Klein went behind the bat; Evans took the bases; Rieter went to right field; while Umpire O'Loughlin went to left field.

First Inning

Boston—Mayor Gaynor threw the ball out to Catcher Meyers. Hooper walked. Terreau somewhat unsteady. Yerkes was out. Doyle to Merkle. Hooper took a hard hit ball and bounced out of Merkle. Hooper went to third on the play. Lewis flied out to Snodgrass. No runs, no hits, no errors.

New York—Devore fanned. Wood's sport was terrific. Doyle up. Doyle singled to center. Snodgrass walked. Snodgrass taking second. Merkle flew out to center. No runs. One hit. No errors.

Second Inning

Boston—Gardner safe on a catcher's error. Gardner was forced out at second on Stahl's grounder. Stahl out, as Wood went to bat. Cady was stealing second. Wagner took his base, forced out at second when Doyle took on balls. Cady was out on a long fly. Wood's grounder and tossed it to Murray. No runs. No hits. One error.

New York—Herzog flew to Stahl. Meyers fanned. Wood served the Indian one drop curve and two high in-shoots. Fletcher was also a victim, striking out. No runs. No hits. No errors.

Third Inning

Boston—Wood got a big cheer when he came to the plate. Wood walked. Hooper sacrificed. Terreau to Merkle. Yerkes was out. Doyle to Merkle. Wood taking third. Speaker was purposely passed. Lewis was out on a high fly to Fletcher. No runs. No hits. No errors.

New York—Terreau struck out. Devore got base on balls. Doyle got a double to left. Devore taking third. It was a high ball and fell near the left field foul line, far in for Lewis to handle. Snodgrass struck out. Devore and Doyle scored on Murray's fly to center. Murray went out trying to stretch it. The play was Speaker's. Cady to Wagner. Two runs. Two hits. No errors.

Fourth Inning

Boston—Gardner went out on high foul to Herzog. The stands are now cheering constantly at every play that is made. Stahl struck out. The crowd yelled. Terreau's balls were breaking sharply over the plate. Wagner flied to Merkle. No runs. No hits. No errors.

New York—Murray was given a great ovation as he walked in from the field. Merkle struck out. Wood burned the ball across the plate with blinding speed. It was a six-pitch strike out. Herzog singled to center. The ball bounding over Wagner's head. Meyers out. Wood to Stahl. Herzog taking second. Fletcher was another strikeout. Leaving Herzog on second. No runs. One hit. No errors.

Fifth Inning

Boston—Cady out. Doyle to Merkle. Terreau was now in his best pitching stride. Not a Boston player had made a hit so far. The Giants' pitcher emptied a fast breaking splitter and a wicked method. Wood went out on a grounder to Merkle. Unmistakably, Hooper could not see Terreau's fast ones and fanned. No runs. No hits. No errors.

New York—Terreau struck out. He took three mighty swings at the ball but failed to connect. Devore popped to Lewis. It was a pitcher's battle so far with Terreau having the better of it. Doyle got a single, which Gardner managed to knock down and the runner, trying to stretch was put out. Gardner to Yerkes. It was a wonderful stop by Larry and an equally fine throw to second. No runs. One hit. No errors.

Sixth Inning

Boston—Yerkes flied out to Snodgrass. With Speaker up the Boston fans cried for a hit. This made a three-run lead. It was a first-inning hit for Boston. Terreau, Speaker scored on Lewis' grounder to Doyle, who threw the runner out at first. Gardner struck out. One run. One hit. No errors.

New York—Snodgrass safe on Wagner's fumble of his grounder. It was a hard hit ball and bounced out of Wagner's hands. Murray attempted to bunt but popped a fly into Stahl's hands. Before Snodgrass could return a double play took place. Merkle went out on a high fly to Wagner. No runs. No hits. One error.

Seventh Inning
Boston—Stahl out. Doyle to Merkle. Wagner singled sharply to center and the Boston fans howled with delight. Cady singled to center. Wagner taking second. The stands were in an uproar and as Wood went to bat, Cady was stealing second. Wagner took his base, forced out at second when Doyle took on balls. Cady was out on a long fly. Wood's grounder and tossed it to Murray. No runs. No hits. One error.

New York—Herzog struck out. Wood used great speed and shot the ball across the corners of the plate like crossed lightning. Meyers was hit by pitched ball. Meyers was forced at second on Fletcher's grounder, which Yerkes threw to Wagner. McCormick went to the bat in place of Terreau. McCormick flied out to Lewis. No runs. No hits. No errors.

Eighth Inning

Boston—Crandall now pitching for New York. Lewis went out on a sharp grounder to shortstop. Fletcher, who threw it to Merkle. Crandall's service consisted largely of a slow out curve and an equally slow drop ball. The change of pace from the speedy Terreau to the slow ball pitching of Crandall seemed to worry the Red Sox. Gardner struck out. Stahl was another strike out victim. No runs. No hits. No errors.

New York—Devore was out. Wagner to Stahl. It was a fast play on Wagner's part. Doyle was another victim. Wagner to Stahl. Snodgrass bopped out to Gardner. No runs. No hits. No errors.

Ninth Inning

Boston—Wagner doubled to left. Cady sacrificed. Herzog to Merkle. Wood was thrown out. Crandall to Merkle. Wagner was held in third. Hooper did to Doyle. No runs. One hit. No errors.

New York—in the Giants' last half two runs were needed to tie and three to win. Murray went to the plate and the crowd yelled for a hit. Murray flied out to Hooper. Merkle singled to center. The New Yorkers took courage. Herzog singled to right. Merkle taking second. The stands were in an uproar and cheered continuously. Merkle scored on Meyer's double. Herzog taking third. Becker run for Meyers. Fletcher struck out. Crandall struck out.

NEW ORDINANCE WAS PASSED

It Makes the City Auditor the Controller—Meeting of Municipal Council Today

At a meeting of the municipal council held this afternoon the new ordinance making the city auditor the city controller was passed to be ordained at a public hearing ten days in the future.

The city auditor will control the municipal switch at city hall. The ordinance provides that he shall keep a complete set of books and accounts which shall comprise all of the financial transactions of the city through the various departments under the city's appropriations.

Wherever an appropriation shall have been expended, or whenever, in the judgment of the city auditor it is evident that the liabilities incurred against any appropriation by a department or official are in excess of the appropriation, he shall make a full report thereon at the next meeting of the municipal council.

The city auditor shall receive all bills and accounts from persons having claims against the city, examine the same in detail, and when satisfied of their correctness and validity, certify the same for the approval of the municipal council.

Wherever a contract is made by any commissioner of the city government, or by a committee or commission appointed by the municipal council, for the purchase of articles or materials furnished for the city, such commissioner, committee or commission shall deposit with the city auditor a certified copy thereof, before any payment shall be made thereon, to the end that the city auditor may see that the payments are made in accordance with the terms of the contract.

It is generally considered that the new ordinance constitutes a line piece of legislation, and while a great deal of it is along the lines recommended by George M. Rex, the expert accountant, who examined the financial books of the city, a number of changes were made by the mayor and adopted by the city council.

The new ordinance makes the audit-

WAR HAS BEEN DECLARED ON TURKEY

LONDON, Oct. 8.—A news agency despatch from Cetinje this morning says that war has been declared by Montenegro on Turkey. The declaration of war, the despatch continues, was delivered to the Ottoman government by the Montegerin charge d'affaires at Constantinople.

Heavy fighting is said to be already in progress between the Montenegri and the Turkish troops along the frontier. A brigade of nine battalions of Turkish infantry proceeding from Scutari to Tusi on the Montenegrin frontier was attacked last evening by a large force of Malissori tribesmen just before reaching Tusi.

The battle continued throughout the night and fighting, according to the despatch is still proceeding this morning.

No confirmation of the news agency despatch from Cetinje has yet been received by the foreign legations here, nor by the British foreign office. The many special newspaper correspondents in the Balkans are also silent. Further despatches from the same source says the Montenegrin government instructed its representative at Constantinople to break off diplomatic relations with Turkey today and to leave Constantinople immediately.

FLAG OF ITALY IS RULED OUT

15,000 People to Take Part in the Columbus Day Parade in Lawrence Saturday

LAWRENCE, Oct. 8.—The principal incident yesterday in this troubled city was an appeal by Rev. Fr. Mariano Milanesi, the Italian priest, for permission to the societies of that nationality to carry the flag of their native land in the patriotic parade on Saturday which a committee of citizens is arranging. His request met with refusal.

He was told that this parade was prompted by the demonstration a week ago Sunday, when "no American flag, only the red flag of anarchy," was carried and its purpose was to show there is only one flag, the Stars and Stripes, and that flag is for all.

The priest said that he came as a messenger of peace and he appealed to the "hearts, not the minds" of the committee.

"The majority of Italians are not anarchists," Fr. Milanesi said, "and we want to do our best to show the American people that we are good citizens. The Italian have been working three months making arrangements for a parade in observance of Columbus day. National flags are not flags of anarchy. We respect our own flag. If you can not allow us to carry this flag many of our people will not come out, then it will be said that the Italians are all bad. We want to destroy that feeling."

CARTER & SHERBURNE

FALLS & BURKINSHAW

I want to have 5000 men in line. Grant this permission for peace's sake.

15,000 Paraders

He was advised that the committee had decided this matter fully before and that only the Stars and Stripes would be allowed. It was a parade for the flag under which all lived and which protected all.

Previously last evening the committee had met with representatives of various organizations which have been asked to take part and reports as to the approximate number who would be in line were received. These estimates totaled about 15,000, and a number of societies had yet to take action on the matter.

Three thousand school children will be in line. One representative said that he expected for 500 women, who were Americans and wished to show it. Several of the delegates said that their societies have engaged music.

A Syrian, who had been a member of the executive committee of the strikers last winter, said that his people had voted to take part, they desired to carry no emblem other than the American flag and would furnish their own band. A woman delegate urged attending church on the morning of the parade and by prayer and other tokens offer atonement for the display shown in the banner of the parade a week ago which bore the inscription "No God, No Master."

The committee held to its previous decisions to have all of either sex, who desired, take part. The plan of Col. W. H. Donovan, chairman of the committee and chief marshal of the parade, is to have the paraders assemble on the common at the conclusion of the route of march and join in singing patriotic airs.

The uneasiness that exists among some of the mill operatives was further illustrated yesterday when 40 or 50 men walked out of the Wood mill because they felt there was a determination to "weed out" certain of their number from the mill. It was said that the ones in charge gave evidence of discriminating against some of them and others walked from the mill.

Carlo Tresca, the Italian organizer of the I. W. W., was called to Lexington hall to address them.

In the I. W. W. circles claims of apprehension lest the leaders meet with violence are still made. Tresca went about yesterday followed by numerous admirers. Haywood and Fitzgerald went away from the city yesterday afternoon by automobile.

There was a flurry of excitement on Lawrence street near Elm street yesterday afternoon when an I. W. W. follower is said to have been set upon and roughly handled by a group of young fellows. One side said that an indignity had been offered the American flag. The I. W. W. version was that an attempt had been made to remove the organization's button from the coat of a member. No arrests were made.

In police court Judge Mahoney gave Nicoli Maria a sentence of nine months for knocking Napoleon Denars from a street car during the rioting of last Monday. Denars has been unable to appear in court because of his injuries. An appeal was taken and sureties fixed at $1500.

The flags displayed throughout the city continue to increase. There was a raising near the corner of Lawrence and Essex streets, as the mill people were on their way home from work yesterday afternoon.

A large banner was floated to the breeze to the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner." Several hundred persons joined in singing this anthem and "America."

QUESTION IS RAISED

As to Eligibility of Bates and Gaston

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—Did the republican state convention Saturday blunder when it nominated ex-Gov. John L. Bates for a "safe" elector at large? Did the democrats err in naming Col. William A. Gaston as a Wilson elector at large?

These questions were raised yesterday by Charles L. Barrill, one of the leading progressive republicans who went to Chicago as a Roosevelt delegate but refused to follow the colored into the Bull Moose party and is now supporting Taft.

Mr. Barrill pointed out that under the constitution of the United States it is provided that: "Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the congress; but no senator or representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector."

Says Mr. Barrill: "It may be that Col. Gaston, who is president of the National Shawmut bank, is eligible, but I think that Mr. Bates is clearly ineligible, but, of course, I should bow to the opinion of a good lawyer in both cases."

"In Mr. Bates' case it seems to be as if the last clause of that part of article 2, section 2, quoted, which states that 'No senator or representative or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States shall be appointed an elector' covers his case and raises a doubt of his eligibility. Mr. Bates is receiver of the National City bank of Cambridge, wrecked by young Coleman. That is certainly a position of trust and profit."

"I raise in point not for the purpose of embarrassing either candidate. Both are good friends of mine, but there is any doubt about their eligibility, this is the time to raise it and settle it."

In case it should be held that both were not eligible nominees, the democratic and republican state committees would have to be called together, accept their resignations and name new candidates.

Col. Gaston said last evening he had heard of the contention and that he was having the matter looked up. "I am told," said Mr. Gaston, "that the question was raised some years ago and that it was decided that a National bank director was not a federal officer-holder within the meaning of the law."

CENSUS FIGURES

Shows Foreign-Born White Males of Voting Age in Continental United States

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 8.—According to the last census, taken as of April 15, 1910, the number of foreign-born white males of voting age, that is, 21 and over, in the United States (not including Alaska, Hawaii, Porto Rico, or other outlying territories) was 6,448,847. Of this number, 2,034,117, or 31.5 per cent, were naturalized. This statement was issued today by Director Dorrard of the bureau of the census, department of commerce and labor, the statistics having been prepared under the direction of William C. Hunt, chief statistician for foreign birth in the census bureau, and being given out subject to revision.

Approximately nine-tenths (89.4 per cent) of the foreign-born white males of voting age were of European origin. 8.4 per cent were natives of American countries other than the United States, and 1.6 per cent were natives of other countries. Very nearly one-half (43,416,920) were natives of the countries grouped in the accompanying table under the heading "North-west Europe," and of these approximately two-thirds (2,151,421, or 65 per cent) were naturalized. Of the 2,151,421 natives of the countries comprising the southern and eastern divisions of Europe, taken together, 581,796, or 27.1 per cent, were naturalized. The countries of low percentage in the table are generally countries from which recent immigration has largely come, the lowness of the percentages being partially due to the fact that naturalization implies a minimum residence within the country of five years.

Natives of Germany, of whom there were 1,273,678 in the country, greatly outnumbered every other nationality among foreign white males 21 years and over, and showed, moreover, the highest percentage naturalized, namely, 63.5 per cent. Of the 227,159 natives of those who constituted the second largest group, 26.1 per cent, were naturalized, of the 112,527 natives of Italy, 17.7 per cent, of the 69,665 natives of Austria, 24.6 per cent. The four following nationalities show relatively high percentages naturalized: Natives of Ireland 67.8, of Canada 51, of England 50.4, and of Sweden 62.8; among natives of Hungary, the only other group exceeding 250,000, the percentage naturalized, 14.3, is very low. Natives of these nine countries in the aggregate account for 5,508,373, or approximately five-sixths (82.9 per cent) of the total number of foreign-born white males of voting age. The lowest proportion naturalized is shown by the small group natives of Montenegro, numbering 1,520, with a percentage naturalized of 2.7.

How She Acquired "Feminine Charm"

A nicely-dressed woman sat beside me in the train. Everyone stared at her. I couldn't help doing the same. It was not her beauty of feature that held our eyes, nor her costume. But there was something about her face and expression. I risked it and asked: "Would you mind telling me how you keep your complexion so dazzlingly pure? Don't think me impertinent, but you seem over 30, yet haven't a line in your face, and your cheeks are quite peach-like. How do you do it?"

Laughing, she said: "That's easy; I remove my skin. Sounds shocking, doesn't it? But listen. Instead of cosmetics I use only pure mercurized lime, procurable at any drugstore. I apply this nightly. Also cold cream, washing it off mornings. This lime absorbs the soiled, weather-beaten skin, without pain or discomfort, thus revealing the fresh, clear underneath. Every woman has a beautiful complexion underneath, you know. Then, to ward off wrinkles I use a face bath made by dissolving powdered succinic (one ounce) in one-half pint with hazel—a harmless astringent which 'tones' the skin wonderfully. Very simple, isn't it? I thought so. I'm now trying her plan and like it immensely."—Millicent Brown in The Story Teller.

Seventeenth Annual Reunion of Alumnae of Notre Dame Academy

NOTRE DAME ACADEMY

The 17th annual reunion of the Alumnae association of Notre Dame Academy will be held on Saturday, Oct. 19, and the program being arranged for the occasion is one of rare excellence. The affair will be held in the beautiful hall at the academy, and it is expected that there will be a very large number of the members present at the festival.

The services will open at 10 o'clock in the morning with all members attending mass, after which all will repair to the assembly hall at the academy, where a reception will be held from 11 o'clock until 12 o'clock. A business session will be held from 12 o'clock until 1 o'clock, and then all will assemble around the festive board to enjoy the banquet. Following the latter feature there will be a social hour, and the session will be closed with benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, the latter service starting at 3 o'clock.

The alumnae is one of the great features attached to the popular academy, and numbers among its members many out-of-town people, who it is expected will be present at the reunion. The affair is in charge of the Sisters of the Notre Dame, and the good women have endeavored themselves to all who pursued their studies at the well-known institution. Some of the sisters, who taught at the academy, when many of the members of the association were pupils, have since passed away, while more have been transferred to other cities. Those who have departed will be remembered in the prayers of the members, while many located in other fields, will be among those in attendance at the reunion.

The officers of the alumnae are busily engaged in sending out invitations to the members of the association, and the latter will make reply, inasmuch as the officers are desirous of knowing the number to be present.

found the defendant not guilty and ordered him discharged.

It seems that Skene recently came from Maine and secured a position with Mr. Stanley and had an operator's license, but had not applied for a chauffeur's license. He was unable to show that at the hearing held last week but the court continued the case and in the meantime Mr. Stanley went to the office of the Massachusetts state highway commission in Boston and this morning presented a letter from that body showing that the non-delivery of the proper license was due to an oversight on the part of some of the clerks in the office.

Leo Kennedy and Emil G. Letellere who were charged with similar violations were found guilty and each ordered to pay a fine of $10. Inasmuch as none of the cases were brought on the court imposed the minimum fine.

Drunken Offenders

Patrick J. McCormack stoutly denied that he was drunk when arrested last night, but Patrolman Sheridan and Special Officer Briggs stated that he was staggering drunk. Patrolman Sheridan said that the man had been a common nuisance around the saloons in Middlesex street for the past three weeks and last night he was thrown out of three different places. McCormack admitted that he had had six or seven drinks during the day, but allowed that that was not enough to make him inebriated.

Joseph Souza and John Oisen were fined $8 each and two first offenders were fined $2 each.

Neglected His Wife

George Boisvert was arraigned before Judge Enright in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with failing to provide proper support for his wife. Mrs. Boisvert testified that she was married to the defendant a little over a year and after living together for four weeks at the home of her father and another her husband left her and since that time he had not given her any money for her support.

Boisvert said that for about a month after he was married he and his wife lived at her home in Kenwood but inasmuch as he was working on the park department in this city he found it very inconvenient and asked his wife to come to this city to live but she said she refused to do so and after being ordered out of the house he came to this city and has lived here since.

At the conclusion of the hearing of the case the court reserved decision until October 12th.

Assault and Battery

Kashew Sharf, charged with assault and battery, was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $7.

PLEASANT PARTY

Miss Palmire Jean, Well Known Dressmaker, Left This City Yesterday For Los Angeles

Miss Palmire Jean, the well known dressmaker, left yesterday noon for Los Angeles, Cal., where she will make her home. Her sister, Miss Marie Jean, who has been touring Europe since last June, left Paris a few days ago on her way to the western state in order to meet the former and spend the winter with her. Miss Palmire Jean is well known in this city, where for the past 15 years she has conducted a modiste parlor at 175 Merrimack street, and her many friends will keenly feel her departure.

On the occasion of her going away, about 50 of her friends called at the home of her brother, Mr. Amadee Jean, 29 Melvin street, Saturday evening and tendered her a farewell reception. The feature of the evening was the presentation of a purse containing $60 in gold, the speech being made by Miss Eva Letellere, with the hostess' little niece, Marianne Jean, presented the gift. Miss Jean, although taken by surprise, responded in a fitting manner and a pleasant evening followed.

Among those taking part in the program were Ida Picard, Victor Picard, Eva Letellere, Joseph Picard, Emma Picard, Emile Picard, St. Amant and Amadee Jean. A champagne luncheon was served and it was late when the guests departed, extending their best wishes to their friends.

MARKET HAS FLUCTUATIONS WITH SLIGHT GAINS

Steel Which Displayed Low Prices at Noon Has Reactionary Trend—Reading Very Active

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Lower prices were the rule at the opening of today's stock market. Canadian Pacific headed a point with substantial fractional losses for New York Central, American Sugar, Amalgamated and various other issues. Reading dealings in steel were again large at a nominal decline.

Western stocks and coal shares advanced slightly for a time, but the heaviness of steel discouraged buyers. The whole market weakened again when steel fell to 78-8-8. Irregularity gave way to moderate heaviness in today's stock market with business in small volume. Recent pressure against market leaders was somewhat relieved by a recovery in the quotations. The sagging tendency might have been due more to a lack of bullish initiative than to any other cause, although foreign news was again disquieting. This was shown in London's market for our securities, some of which were distinctly weak. Bonds were irregular.

Stocks inclined toward betterment during the noon hour under lead of Reading and Steel. Amalgamated showed slightly on publication of the copper report showing a fairly large increase in supply of the metal for September.

In the afternoon stocks maintained a good tone with further demand for steel and the coalers.

WAYNE MACVEAGH TESTIFIES

Before Senate Committee That is Inquiring Into Campaign Expenditures

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Wayne MacVeagh, with Mr. Frick before the Harriman Veagh of Philadelphia, former attorney general, was ready to testify before the Clapp committee today regarding an alleged conversation between J. P. Morgan and E. H. Harriman in 1901 about republican campaign funds.

Charles E. Russell, socialist candidate for governor of New York and J. C. Welliver, a writer, told their versions of the story yesterday. It substantially was that Mr. MacVeagh had been present in Mr. Morgan's office when such a conversation took place.

The pre-convention expenditures of the supporters of President Taft and Roosevelt activities in the south this year, as well as the 1904 campaign fund, were scheduled for discussion before the committee today. Former Senators Chauncey Dewey of New York and Nathan B. Scott of West Virginia, Rep. William B. McKinley, who managed the Taft pre-convention campaign, Orin M. McGee, Roosevelt adviser, and George J. Gould, leading railroad interests, were on the list of the day's witnesses.

Mr. MacVeagh said he did not wish to say he had not given Mr. Welliver some basis for his story.

"I may have called on Mr. Morgan on the day I have in mind," said Mr. MacVeagh. "I remember calling on Mr. H. Twombly at his office in the latter part of October, 1904. While we were conversing he was called to the telephone by his clerk. His office is in the same building as Mr. Morgan's but in the upper stories. When Mr. Twombly returned he told me he had been talking to Mr. E. H. Harriman; that Mr. Harriman had been called to Washington by Mr. C. Roosevelt, and had found the president anxious for the raising of an additional fund for the campaign; that it had resulted in Mr. Harriman agreeing to raise and give to Mr. Russell $250,000.

"Mr. Twombly said that Mr. Harriman had called him up and expected him to give $50,000. Mr. Twombly said to me that Mr. Harriman was to give $50,000, that he had been asked to give $50,000 and he said something that led me to infer that Mr. Morgan would give $50,000.

"He said, of course, Mr. Harriman had been acting in the common interest of the country, that the contribution would have to be made. I remember that he expressed the opinion that the contributions would be practically a waste; that Mr. Roosevelt was sure of his election; but that Mr. Harriman who had been acting in the interest could not be expected to stand the entire contribution. He added, that of course there's nothing for me to do but to meet his request."

Mr. MacVeagh said that that undoubtedly was the incident to which Mr. Russell and Mr. Welliver had alluded.

Mr. MacVeagh also related a recent conversation with Charles A. Peabody, president of the Mutual Life Ins Co in which Mr. Peabody said he had been in Mr. Harriman's office when he called on Mr. Twombly about the contribution.

Mr. Peabody said Mr. Harriman told him he had been down to Washington and that the president insisted or requested or desired that he raise the money, part of it for the state campaign in New York and part of it for use in other states.

Mr. MacVeagh added that Mr. Twombly told him he had once been invited to lunch at the White House

OVATION FOR W. H. K. REDMOND

When He Arrived in Toronto—
Presented Address From the
Friends of Home Rule

TORONTO, Oct. 8.—William H. K. Redmond, M. P., the delegate of the Irish parliamentary party, received a great ovation here Saturday evening when he arrived on the International Limited train from Montreal, where he had spoken Friday night on his way to Chicago. The train made a 10-minute stop here, and during that time Mr. Redmond was presented an address from the United Irish League of Toronto and other friends of home rule by J. P. Cronin, president of the local branch.

The address reaffirmed Canadian support of home rule and expressed regret that a section of the Ulster Protestants had allowed themselves to be used for the designs of party politicians. A substantial subscription to the parliamentary fund was made, it being remarkable for the large number of Protestant citizens contributing and signing the address. These included Senator Robert Jaffray and Mr. J. H. Blake, the aged brother of the late Edward Blake, M. P., for many years a member of the Irish parliamentary party. Mr. Blake, speaking as a Protestant, called upon his fellow citizens of Canada to uphold Mr. Redmond in his work for Ireland. He declared his conviction that home rule would

THE TAFT SUPPORTERS MAN BURNED TO DEATH

To Fight Roosevelt in Maine Campaign
When Lamp Broke and Exploded

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 8.—It is admitted now by all factions of the republican party that Col. Roosevelt and his friends are not to have Maine all to themselves.

Up to the meeting of the republican state committee at Augusta the progressive speakers had made no reference to Col. Frederick Hale, Maine member of the republican national committee, but they are now insisting that he should have resigned from the national committee after the organization of the progressive party. They claim he was chosen a member of the national committee as a progressive. Col. Hale has a more than state-wide reputation as an organizer and it is admitted that, acting with Hon. Warren C. Phillips, chairman of the republican state committee, he will be able to make a strong fight in Maine. The republicans are again coming into the open and there has been more Taft talk on the streets in the last two or three days than since the campaign first opened.

On their part the progressives are indignantly answered. They did not believe in the meeting at Augusta that the Taft men would try to make any sort of a campaign against Col. Roosevelt, but they are insisting the republican change in the republican program be made and that the progress of the republican party be made. They are not disposed to discuss in advance of the national election what effect the resolution of the republican leaders to make a fight may have on the political fortunes of ex-Gov. Ross. The exact effect of a combination of republicans and progressives in the next legislature. The name of ex-Gov. Ross is often spoken in connection with the senatorship.

The other negroes who were to be baptized were carried to the shore by Rev. J. W. Dudley.

NEW WORLD'S RECORD

Sotemia Won $15,000
Kentucky Event

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 8.—Sotemia won the four-mile $15,000 Kentucky endurance race at Churchill Downs yesterday afternoon in 7m. 10 4-5s, establishing a new world's record. Col. Holloway was second and Azo third.

In 1911 The Messenger Boy went the distance in 7:14 1-5.

The other four starters were strung out with Sotemia, which was last, half a mile from the wire when Sotemia finished.

At the end of the first mile Manager Mack led by seven lengths with Col. Holloway second and Sotemia third, 10 lengths behind the leader. Loftus, of Manager Mack, apparently was trying to restrain his mount, but at the end of the second mile Manager Mack had increased his lead to 20 lengths and Sotemia had moved into second place.

Jacked Martin on Sotemia then began his race and at the end of the third mile Manager Mack led by only the first turn on the last mile and drew away steadily until at the finish she was 15 lengths ahead of Col. Holloway, which was 20 lengths ahead of Azo.

Beside the winner's share of the $15,000 purse, amounting to about $10,000, a gold cup was presented to a representative of Mrs. L. A. Livingston, owner of the mare.

The winner carried 119 pounds, top weight except for Star Charter, which had 122 up. The latter was favorite and led in the race until the last mile and when called upon to challenge was unequal to the task. The price on the winner in the pari-mutuels was $16.20 for $2.

EDUCATION BUREAU

Of the Federal Government Is Anxious to Secure Education Specialists for Advancement of Rural Education

The United States bureau of education has several responsible positions open for high-class educators, according to a recent announcement of the civil service commission. The positions are: Specialist in rural education at a salary of $3000, and a collector and compiler of statistics at $2400.

The man who fills the first-named position will have to possess a thorough knowledge of rural conditions. He must be a graduate of a college or university of recognized standing; he must have studied the theory of education for at least one year or taught the theory of education for at least three years' practical experience as supervisor or teacher. It is also suggested that experience as a public speaker is desirable, since the specialist will travel a considerable part of his time in the interest of rural education. Above all he must be a firm believer in the possibilities of country life, and he must be an enthusiast on the betterment of rural schools. The man who fills this position will be an important factor in the vigorous campaign that the commissioner of education is waging for the advancement of rural education.

The collector and compiler of statistics will be chief of the division of school administration in the bureau of education at Washington. He will be expected to keep in close touch with school superintendents throughout the country, concerning himself particularly with school systems in cities of 25,000 population or less. Besides the usual high scholastic attainments the candidate must have had at least three years' experience as superintendent of city schools.

The examination for specialist in rural education will be held October 19; that for collector and compiler of statistics October 26. Candidates will not be required to appear at any place for examination.

Owned By Mr. and Mrs. William Laroche of Westford Street Has Passed Away

Mr. and Mrs. William Laroche of Westford street died for the last time in their home here a few days ago after living over 60 years. This parrot, which was famous because of the fact that it could speak both French and English, had been in the Laroche family for nearly 60 years. It began to talk at the time of the death of his son, William, took the bird to his home and has kept it ever since.

"Polli," which was his bird's name, was named in this city as a link, a singer and whistler. It was purchased by Dr. Laroche, one of the city's oldest residents, in 1850, when the doctor conducted a pharmacy in Merrimack street. He kept the bird in the store and "Polli" quickly picked up English. For the past few years there have been many inquiries about the bird by old people who have lived in Lowell 25 years or more and who still remembered the doctor's parrot.

"Polli" was about the fondest specimen of a bird ever heard of and probably more particular about his bath than many people. For every morning he had to take his bath. Between 7 and 8 o'clock his usual call, "Bath, bath," would be heard, and he would splash in all over his back and thus take his usual morning bath. Then he would whistle an air of a song and partake of his morning meal.

The parrot, which in the summer time was placed on the window sill on the Westford street side of the house, would take great pleasure in stopping electric cars with his sharp whistle and when a car was brought to a stop, the conductors and motormen "got wise" to him and when they heard a sharp whistle they turned around and made sure that it was not "Polli," which they could hear before they stopped the car.

MAN NEARLY DIED
Didn't Change Breathing Tube and Man Came Near Losing His Life

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—Peter Caldwell of Malden nearly died yesterday because he forgot to change his breathing apparatus on time. The air that goes into and out of his lungs passed through a filter tube ever since he was injured in a cave-in.

Once a year, acting under orders from the surgeons, this tube has been replaced by a new one, but this year Caldwell thought the old one was working well enough to keep him (this side of the Jordan) for a while longer and he did not bother to have it changed.

Yesterday at his home, 71 Charles street, his troubles began. An ambulance was summoned and he was rushed to the hospital, gasping through the stuffy pipe for breath.

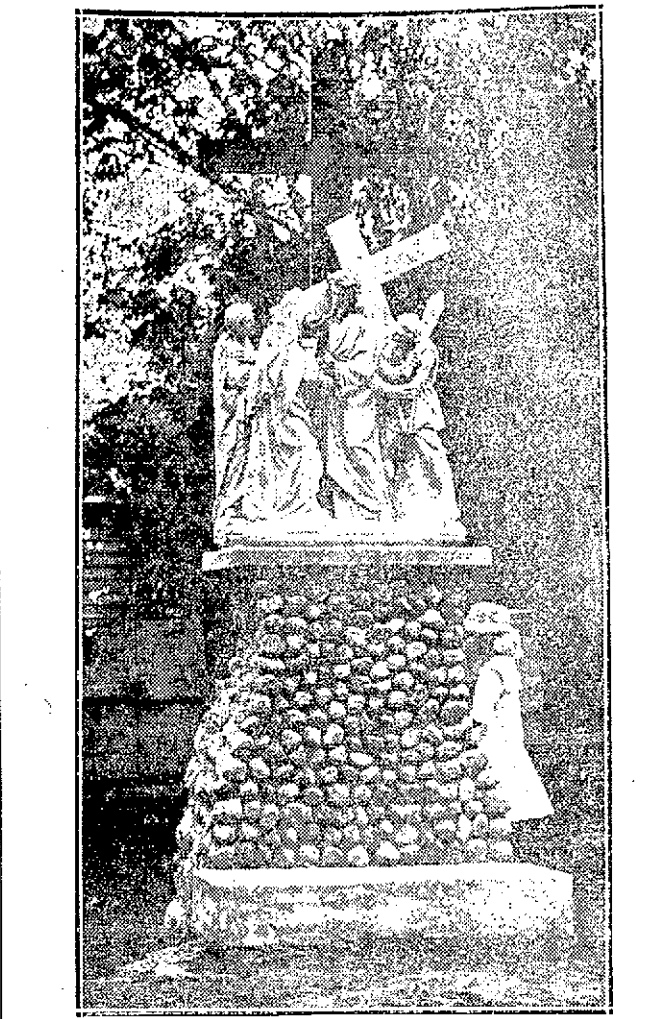

At a next tube of the right dimensions was secured and inserted, and now he is all right again. Hereafter Caldwell says he will be prompt about his annual change of breathing pipes.

YESTERDAY, Oct. 8.—Mrs. Lynch of Jessup, Pa., "After the birth of my fourth child, I had severe organic inflammation. I would have such terrible pains that it did not seem as though I could stand it. This kept up for three long months, until two doctors decided that an operation was needed."

"Then one of my friends recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and after taking it for two months I was a well woman."—Mrs. JOSEPH A. LYNCH, Jessup, Pa.

Women who suffer from female ills should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, one of the most successful remedies the world has ever known, before submitting to a surgical operation.

New Stations of the Cross Being Placed in the French Orphanage

ONE OF THE NEW STATIONS OF THE CROSS AT THE FRENCH ORPHANAGE

Through the courtesy of four parishioners of St. Joseph's parish, stations of the cross will be erected on the grounds of the French American orphanage in Pawtucket street. The statues which are of remarkable beauty, being the work of a great French artist, have arrived from Angiers, France, but unfortunately eight of the fourteen were somewhat damaged. These, however, were repaired for the time being and it is expected an artist will be sent to fix them as new.

The statues, which are very large, are made of terra cotta and will be installed from a spot near the entrance to the grounds at Pawtucket street to the rear of the orphanage, where a calvary is being erected. If the weather is favorable next Sunday the statues will be placed on stone pedestals which were recently built, and the stations will be blessed by the pastor of the parish, Rev. Henri Watelle, O. M. I.

MAN SUES FOR $15,000

For Loss of an Eye by His Son

WORCESTER, Oct. 8.—Denial that he has a vicious and dangerous rooster, or has possessed one at any time, that would peck out the eyes of his son, was entered by Valentine Drankiewicz in the superior court yesterday.

The denial came in answer to suits brought by Alexander Kalanofsky for $15,000 for the loss of an eye by Stephen Kalanofsky, son of the plaintiff, following, he says, the peck of a rooster belonging to the defendant. The father sues for $10,000 in the name of his son and for $5000 in his own behalf for loss of the boy's services.

The plaintiff alleges that Drankiewicz possessed a certain "ferocious and dangerous" rooster that did the damage to Stephen's eye on Aug. 13 that necessitated the removal of it at the City hospital. The two families live in adjoining yards in this city.

Never before has a rooster's leg been the cause of legal action, court officials say, in Worcester county.

ARE YOU PREJUDICED AGAINST ADVERTISING?

Most successful business men of today recognize that advertising is a necessity, and when well authenticated FACTS are set forth in a dignified manner regarding an article they know that the sensible and fair-minded public will respond in a generous way.

The "ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT" is the logical outcome of the practice and experience of a New York physician, covering many years of trial and experiment. So successful was he with this treatment, in his own practice and also in the practice of some of his professional friends, he established a laboratory for the wholesale preparation of this remedy with a view of introducing it to the afflicted public.

To accomplish this purpose, paid-for advertising was necessary—as it could not be expected that publishers would accept a business proposition without compensation—no matter how beneficial the exploited article might be to subscribers. This is why you will find no advertisements of the "ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT" in Lowell and other papers.

There is one point we desire to impress on the mind of every reader, and that is the absolute, short-cut, and truthfulness of every statement made by us to the public by means of advertising. We believe the "ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT" is sane and practical; that it will soon be used in hospitals throughout the country and will be prescribed by many good physicians and used in their practice.

The "ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT" is for sale at 15 drug stores in the city of Lowell alone. Every druggist has a supply of booklets on this matter for free distribution. The booklet is a very well written treatise on hemorrhoids.

If interested, send to your nearest druggist for a booklet, or write direct to the English Pharmaceutical Laboratories, Inc., 1331 Broadway, New York, and they will send you one. If you are a sufferer it will interest you and perhaps you may later find that it was "worth its weight in gold" to you. ASK YOUR DRUGGIST! ASK YOUR DOCTOR!

GOULD PAYS THE DUTY CHILDREN WERE RESCUED

And Will Appeal to From Burning Building the Court in Springfield

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Frank J. Gould yesterday obtained release of all the $400,000 worth of baggage which the customs authorities seized when he and Mrs. Gould and her sisters arrived last Friday from their home in Paris. Under protest Mr. Gould paid $2844 on the dutiable articles, but the greater part of the valuable jewelry was shown to have been assessed before by the customs authorities.

Mr. Gould will carry to the courts his fight against paying any duty at all, declaring that he is now exempt as a non-resident and that he intended only to pay a visit to this country.

He was Prostrated by Heat Yesterday in Boston With the Mercury at 86

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—Yesterday's maximum temperature of 86 was the highest temperature but one in October for 40 years, and very likely the only one during that long period. John Dolan, 40 years old, of 48 West 5th street, South Boston, succumbed on Washington avenue in that section about 3 p. m., the hottest time of the day, and was sent to Carney hospital.

The only October day on record that was hotter than yesterday was October 1, 1851. Yesterday was also the warmest day in nearly four weeks. Sept. 11 the record was 90. The warm wave which reached its culmination yesterday started Oct. 3, when the maximum was 72. The records for the succeeding days till yesterday were 77, 78, 82 and 86.

Many persons had it as the traditional Indian summer arriving a little earlier than usual, but the weather bureau holds there is no such thing as Indian summer, and the bureau records show no regular annual rise of the normal temperature at any period in October, but a general decline.

The mercury dropped 26 degrees up to 11 o'clock last night, and the weather man said today will probably be many degrees cooler and windier than yesterday and tomorrow. A depression in the northwest may preclude cloudiness for Wednesday.

HEADACHY, CONSTIPATED, BILIOUS, TAKE DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

Removes scum from tongue, sweetens a sour, gassy, bilious stomach, cleanses your liver and 30 feet of bowels

If headachy, bilious, dizzy, tongue all wrong. If you will take a tea-spoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs you will never realize you are sick and miserable. It means that your liver is choked with sour bile and your thirty feet of bowels are clogged with sticky waste matter not properly carried off. Constipation is worse than most folks believe. It means that this vile decay in the thirty feet of bowels decays into poisons, gases and acids which these poisons are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

Most people dread physic. They think of castor oil, salts and cathartics. They shrink from the after effects—so they postpone the dose until they get sick; then they take this liver and bowel cleansing in a heroic way—they have a bowel washday. That is all wrong. If you will take a tea-spoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs you will never realize you are sick and miserable. It means that your liver is choked with sour bile and your thirty feet of bowels are clogged with sticky waste matter not properly carried off. Constipation is worse than most folks believe. It means that this vile decay in the thirty feet of bowels decays into poisons, gases and acids which these poisons are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," and look for the name, California Fig Syrup Company, on the label. This is the genuine—old reliable. Any other Fig Syrup offered as good should be refused with contempt. Don't be imposed upon.

EDWARD CLARK PLEADED GUILTY

He Was Charged With Being Implicated in the Dynamite Conspiracy Cases

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 8.—Edward Clark of Cincinnati yesterday pleaded guilty to the government's charges in the dynamite conspiracy.

As soon as court opened District Attorney Miller addressed Federal Judge Anderson.

"If it please the court, the defendant Clark of Cincinnati wishes to change his plea from not guilty to guilty."

Clark then stepped forward.

"Do you plead guilty?" asked Judge Anderson.

"I plead guilty," said Clark.

The prisoner was then separated from the other 45 defendants and taken to jail to await sentence. Clark pleaded guilty to all the charges—five counts of conspiracy and 50 counts of being a principal to the actual illegal interstate shipment of dynamite and nitro-glycerine.

Clark was business agent and president of local 44 of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers from January, 1908, to July, 1911. His activities in promoting explosions, Mr. Miller asserted, were carried on through letters written by Frank Ryan, president of the union, and the McNamras. An ivory handled umbrella bearing the initials "E. C." found in the wreckage of a dynamited bridge at Dayton, O., Mr. Miller said, led to the disclosure that Clark actually had caused the explosion, having used the umbrella to protect the dynamite from the rain and then leaving it behind.

Clark also was charged with carrying out plots against employees of non-union labor.

In connection with a scheme to blow the Harrison avenue viaduct at Cincinnati, Mr. Miller alleged, Clark wrote to Ryan: "It would be dangerous for me to buy explosives down here. You had better send a stranger. I have gotten one man out of a lot of trouble already. I am afraid I can't do any more, for the police judge said: 'For God's sake don't bring this bunch before me again or I'll have to do something.'"

MARRIAGE LAW

New Arrangement Causes a Great Amount of Trouble For Judge Enright

Incorrect interpretation of the laws in relation to the granting of marriage licenses on the part of many who apply at the city clerk's office for them is usually brought in the end to Judge Enright of the police court and cause that official considerable trouble.

The law is stated as follows: "Persons who intend to be joined in marriage in this commonwealth shall not less than five days before the marriage cause notice of their intention to be entered in the office of the clerk or registrar of the city or town in which they respectively dwell, or if they do not dwell within the commonwealth, in the office of the clerk or registrar of the city or town in which they propose to have the marriage solemnized."

THE HIGH SCHOOLS

More Than a Million and a Quarter Will Attend Them During This Term

More than a million and a quarter boys and girls will attend the American high schools, public and private, during the school year 1912-13, according to the estimate of Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education. Dr. Claxton has been assured by Mr. Alexander Summers, superintendent of the bureau, who has made a special study of the matter, that the estimate is a conservative one. Of the number given 1,100,000 are estimated for the public high schools, and 150,000 for the private secondary schools.

The American high school has grown phenomenally in the past dozen years, its development in the last two or three years being apparently greater than in the remarkable decade just preceding. Since the twentieth century opened the number of public high schools has almost doubled and the number of students is easily twice what it was at the beginning of the century. The most cheering feature of the whole matter for the American nation is the very great increase in the proportion of those who go from the grades into the high school. Formerly only a very few years ago, in fact, the high school was chiefly attended by children of the rich and moderately well-to-do. Today nearly one-fourth of the children who enter the elementary school eventually pass into the high school. The exact figure is 22 per cent. If negro children are included, and 25 per cent if whites only are considered. This is particularly significant, since certain critics of the public high schools have, through a misunderstanding of the official reports, contended that a much smaller percentage than is here given had the opportunity of high school training. The fact remains that from 22 to 25 of every hundred children who enter the schools at all go on into the high school.

Almost equally significant for public education is the fact that by far the most rapid growth has been in the public high schools. The private secondary schools show a healthy increase—25 per cent in attendance since 1900; but the public high schools have actually doubled their attendance in the same period. To make the comparison on another basis: In 1890 forty out of every hundred high schools were private, and sixty public; in 1900 the proportion had changed to 22 and 77; and today there are only 16 private secondary schools for every 84 public high schools. As to number of students: In 1890 32 per cent of the pupils were in private high schools and 68 per cent in public; today only 12 per cent of the pupils are in private secondary schools. Is it any wonder that the people believe in their high school and give but scant attention to the occasional hostile criticism that is heard? The public high school is winning because the people are satisfied that it is doing its work; they realize what it has meant to the rising standard of American citizenship.

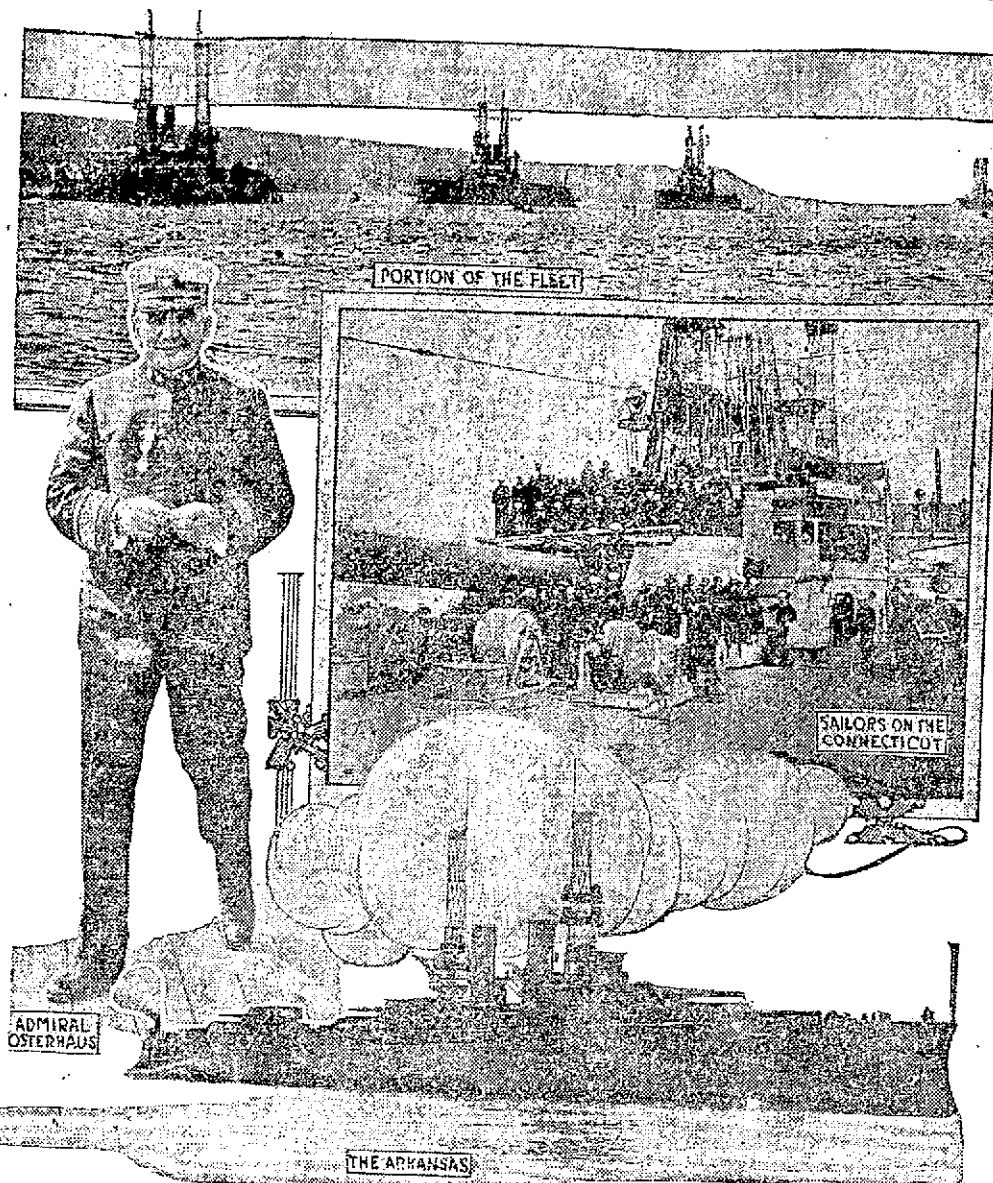

The people have shown their appreciation of their high school in the most direct way possible—by supporting it unflinchingly and generously. They have faith enough in it to pay huge sums of money year after year that the high school may do greater and greater work. More and more attention is being paid to high school education. Million-dollar school buildings are going up in American cities; palaces, one might call them, did not the word suggest idleness, and there is no idleness in the present-day high school. Industry, technical ability, home-making, together with the essentials of a cultured education, are being taught to our boys and girls in the splendid high schools of today on a scale that was never dreamed of in the civic life of any nation before our time.

Commissioner Claxton's widely quoted statement of some months ago to the effect that he looked forward to the time when all boys and girls would have at least a high-school education seems likely of fulfillment sooner than even the commissioner himself anticipated.

Some Sensible Advice on Womanly Beauty

Healthy hair adds much to womanly beauty, and it is such an easy matter to have a glorious mass of lovely hair that the dull, "stringy" kind is inexcusable. A teaspoonful of cantharox dissolved in a cup hot water removes every particle of dust, dandruff and excess oil, and after rinsing, the hair dries quickly and evenly. Cantharox stimulates promote hair-health and insure a wealth of lustrous, even-colored young-looking hair.

Remove tan and freckles and keep the skin clear, velvety and attractive for the social season by daily applying a lotion prepared by stirring two teaspoonfuls of glycerine into one-half pint whisky (not for hot water) then adding four ounces spunk. This lotion is used instead of face powder and though invisible, tones the skin to a beautiful, natural color while eradicating tan, sunburn, freckles, surface blemishes and the oily, shiny appearance of the face, so often due to perspiration.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

A GREAT INCREASE IN SALES

Reported by Automobile Dealers
in This City—The New 1913
Models Arrive

The arrival of many new 1913 models in this city has caused an increase in the sales of automobiles over the previous week and yet there are scores of people who intend to buy, but want to wait until all of the various models have been inspected.

The weather of the past week has been productive of a big outpouring of automobilists who have enjoyed long tours. Sunday was an ideal day for riding and hundreds of people made runs into the country or along the beaches on the northern shore.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Putnam of Stevens street have returned home after enjoying an automobile trip through the Berkshires.

Mrs. Andrew C. Wheelock is one of the latest enthusiasts, she having recently purchased a touring car.

The many friends and admirers of Ralph L. Putnam, considered the best racing driver in the country today, were pained to learn of his accident during the running of the Grand Prix race on the Watwasa track near Milwaukee Saturday afternoon. The Putnam drove one of the Fiat in the big race held over the Algonquin valley course in 1907.

George Day and Herbert Ellis of Chelmsford have returned from a long automobile trip through the White Mountains, Lake Champlain and north New Hampshire and Vermont.

Sunday was apparently Stanley day judging from the lengthy run made with these particular cars by local owners. For instance, Tony Williston who owns the sales in this city and surrounding towns, was so elated over the beautiful rainy weather which breaking day provided that he took out the 1913 Stanley and while before starting, he did not think of going any great distance, when the car finally got speeding and hitting for proper rate of speed, he just sat at the wheel and guided it through the country roads belched with their autumnal scenery, and before he turned the hood of the machine homeward, he had touched the shores of York Beach, Me. After stopping for dinner and exchanging greetings with other Lowell motorists who happened to be in the vicinity, Tom headed for home and arrived in the city in the early evening, after a most enjoyable trip, the pleasure of which had not been shared by a mishap. Other Stanley enthusiasts who made runs were E. N. Labele, the optician, who went to Worcester, and traversed generally its vicinity; Charles H. Lane, who made a run to Springfield, Mass., and Mr. George, assistant engineer at the Lowell Electric Light company's plant in 1911, street, who recently purchased a runabout.

Dr. Frederick Dandale has purchased a model 30 Buick runabout through the agency of the Lowell Automobile Co. Martin Phil also bought a model 30.

James M. Abbott, the broker, with offices in Wyman's Exchange, has purchased a model 30 Buick.

John R. Sargent, contractor, has purchased a second-hand touring car through the Geo. H. White Agency in Middlesex street.

A complete line of the 1913 models of Oldsmobile will be on exhibition next Saturday in Rockingham Park, Salem, N. H., prior to, during and after the race.

"I consider the windshields as good a protection, if not better, than any accident insurance policy you could sell me," these are the exact words of a well-to-do New Yorker, who, along with his chauffeur, had a very narrow escape from decapitation by a wire which was stretched across a country highway at a height of about 7 feet, of course to be a thing of this kind is a criminal offense, punishable by fine and imprisonment, but the perpetrator has never been apprehended. This should be taken as a warning by automobilists who neglect to equip their cars with shields. The local automobilists' chance is given to procure a good make of windshield at a low price for Harry Pitts of the Pitts Auto Supply in Third street, has come upon a job lot of windshields for which he is receiving orders.

Along with the announcement that Henry E. Grant, winner of the Vanderbilt cup, that great American automobile classic, in 1909 and 1910, is to appear in the automobile races to be held at Rockingham park, on Saturday, October 12th, comes the welcome news to the many business and personal friends of Mr. Arthur J. Cummiskey of this city, that the Stutz automobile factory, for which he is the Lowell, Lawrence and Nashua agent, has placed in his charge its entire inventory at the country automobile races at which they propose to cut a most conspicuous figure. While Mr. Cummiskey is at present the agent of that celebrated company in this district, the fact that he has been given complete charge of the race entries, officers, and in fact of every detail in connection with the company's exhibit at this important meet is a generous compliment to him and comes as the result of his success as an automobile salesman. It is unnecessary to dwell upon Mr. Cummiskey's success in the automobile business in this city for it is well known to all local auto owners. He has made good with capital G, and judging from the manner in which he is going after Saturday's race, it will not be his fault if the Stutz people don't cover themselves with glory. Mr. Cummiskey states that the Stutz racing machines will be here within a few days and will practice on the boulevard course and later at the park. In addition to Harry E. Grant, Mr. Cummiskey will have another crack driver under his wing in the person of Jack LeCain, who drove the Stutz car to victory at old Stratford last July. Grant will drive in the wire which Stutz car driven by Gil Anderson in the Vanderbilt cup race at Milwaukee last Saturday which was the only American car to finish.

Mr. Cummiskey received word yesterday that the new six cylinder model of the Stutz will reach Boston today and he expects to have it here by the close of the week. The new series 11, four-cylinder cars are already on exhibition.

Speaking of the Stutz cars, Mr. Cummiskey said to the writer: "The new series, both four and six, are beauties. The six has a 60 horse power motor, the four a 50 horse power motor. All cars are furnished in the most luxurious manner and are bound to create a sensation when they arrive. 'Harry Stutz, whose design of a car that could make such an instantaneous hit has proven his ability, has retained in the new series the tried and true features of the first Stutz cars, has developed in the new six the highest type of motor car comfort and refinement. No improvement, beyond an increase in power, was needed in the mechanical part of the car, so he concentrated on the body design.

"These cars are comfortable and roomy. The unsightly bulge in the body lines necessary to accommodate three passengers on the rear seat are not incorporated in the Stutz, which comes in roadster, four-passenger and six-passenger models.

"We have passed the point where it was necessary to convince people of the superiority of the Stutz. Every single Stutz owner in New England is a Stutz salesman and our willingness to furnish prospective purchasers with others' names and addresses is a sufficient guarantee of this. Several of our past season's purchasers have brought in friends who have bought Stutz cars because of the car's performance."

"When Harry Grant, who knows a car's qualifications and who insists on a good mount when he goes into a race, chooses the Stutz as his car at Rockingham, it's a mighty strong guarantee of the car's reliability, power, speed and consistency."

VALUABLE HORSE SHOT

It Nearly Kicked Itself
to Death

Mr. Abraham Rondeau, caretaker at 490 School street, lost a valuable horse yesterday, when it had to be shot, as it was suffering from self-inflicted injuries.

The horse was in its stable in the rear of 31 Ward street yesterday, when suddenly it took a kicking fit and nearly kicked itself to death. The noise in the stable attracted considerable people to the scene, but nothing could be done to save the horse, as it was jumping and kicking so much that people feared to enter the stable.

Finally Patrolman Eliot N. Breault was called and after studying the situation thought it best to shoot the horse and one bullet did the trick. The next job was to get the horse from the barn and that was not an easy one.

The animal had demolished part of the inside of the building and was wedged in a mass of debris. After considerable work, however, a gang of men tore down part of the walls and with the aid of chains and horses, the animal was pulled out of the stable.

OPENING NIGHT

Will Be Observed by the Y. M. C. I. on Thursday Evening of This Week—
Preparation for Ball

On Thursday evening of this week the members of the Young Men's Catholic Institute will observe opening night and the feature of the occasion will be a bowling match between the club five and a team from Nashua.

The Y. M. C. I. bowling team this season should prove to be one of the leaders of the city for it has on its lineup some of the best local men on the alleys, including the well known cranks, Kelly, Coleman and Whalen. The opening night will comprise a general good time and a musical program will be given and a smoker enjoyed. The club room here has been extensively renovated and a sum of about $200 has been expended in perfecting and polishing the bowling alleys until now they are among the very best in Lowell.

The members of the club are already making preparations for their annual Thanksgiving ball, which will be held on Thanksgiving eve in Associate hall. This event has always enjoyed remarkable success in past years and this season's dance will be no exception.

Injuries Fatal

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 8.—Tony Souda, a mechanic for Bruce Smith, who was killed last week while trying out the Vanderbilt cup race course, died today from his injuries.

SELECTING THE BECKER JURY

The Second Man Chosen is Robert C. Purcell, Manufacturer of Chemicals

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—With one juror in the box the second day of the trial of Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, charged with the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was resumed before Justice Goff in the criminal branch of the supreme court today. At the close of yesterday's session Justice Goff announced that if the jurybox was not full at 5 p. m. today he probably would order night sessions.

From the trend of questions put to witnesses it is evident that the defendant and his counsel are anxious that the case be tried by a jury of native Americans, preferably married. John McIntyre, chief counsel for the defense, also prefers what he considers another qualification—blue eyes. Becker has blue-gray eyes.

Robert C. Purcell, a manufacturer of chemicals and the first salesman examined today, was selected as juror number two.

An anonymous letter threatening death was delivered to McIntyre this morning. The writer charged the attorneys with putting up the murder of Jack Zelig and added that if Becker was acquitted "you shall die." The lawyer was inclined to regard the communication as a hoax.

SPEEDY CARS

Entered in Races To Be Held at Rockingham Park on Columbus
Day

The automobile and motorcycle racing scheduled for Rockingham Park, at Salem, N. H., on Columbus day, Oct. 12th, will not be lacking in excitement, judging from present indications.

J. L. Judd of the Jackson Motor Car company has entered two of his cars in the Columbus day events. Harry Cobe, the famous Vanderbilt cup driver, who holds records for 24-hour racing at Brighton beach in the Lozier, will drive one of the Jacksons. The other will probably be driven by Chas. Basle, another Vanderbilt cup racer.

Professor David L. Gallin, consulting engineer of Worcester Polytechnic, has a Humber 20 for which he claims unusual speed. This car will be seen in several of the more important contests. Badger has entered his four-cylinder National, with Albert T. Hort driving.

N. E. Darling has entered his four-cylinder National, with G. C. Jesson, who made such a good showing in the Buick last June on this course. He will drive this National in the amateur events. Harry Grant will be a conspicuous figure in the big events with the Stutz car that was driven in the Vanderbilt cup race at Milwaukee. It is being specially expressed on from Milwaukee to compete at Rockingham. Jack LeCain will also drive the same car in one of the events.

FOREIGN INVASION

British Auto Manufacturers to Attempt to Compete With Americans and Drive Them From the British Market

Word has been received here that British manufacturers propose forming a twenty-five million dollar company to compete with American automobiles and drive them back from the British market.

George M. Dickson, an authority on automobiles and foreign trade, declares that such an undertaking is hopeless because he believes that the American made motor car is too widely recognized as being superior to be stopped now.

"The invasion of the American made motor car into foreign lands, especially Great Britain, was handicapped at the start by the bad taste left in the mouths of the British business men due to the inferior bicycles that American at one time unloaded upon them," says Dickson. "I do not mean that all the bicycles sent over from here were bad, but a great many were, enough to make the British shy of the motor car. But from the first day the American made motor car put its rubber shoe feet on British soil it has made good upon its own merits. There is absolutely not a single day of bad reputation to be lived down by the motor cars."

"The American business man has a large horizon; he is out after the trade of the world at large, basing his claim upon the merits of his goods and his own enterprise. Nothing in my opinion illustrates better this American business activity both in spirit and quality of production than the motor car business of America. I do not think the invasion of American made cars abroad can be stopped. I do not believe that the British manufacturing processes are as advanced as the American. I do not believe the British workmen, but the automatic machinery and systems of efficiency of American factories are far superior. The reputation of American made cars for quality is a matter of world wide knowledge and is winning for us increasing favor abroad."

MOTION FOR RELEASE OF ETTOR

Was Under Consideration in the Superior Court at Salem Today

SALEM, Oct. 8.—Motions for the release on bail of Joseph J. Ettore, Arturo Giovannitti and Joseph Caruso, Industrial Workers of the World, were still under consideration at the superior court here today.

Attorneys for the trio, whose trial on charges of being responsible for the death of a Lawrence mill worker, Anna Lopizzo, was temporarily limited last week, and told the court of their intention to present such motions and Judge Joseph P. Quinn set yesterday for the arguments. For some unexplained reason the matter did not get beyond the judge's lobby yesterday, the attorneys spending the day in conference. John P. Mahoney acted for Ettore in the matter with Scott Peters for Giovannitti and James H. Fisk for Caruso. Associated with them were Attorney Fred Moore of Los Angeles and George E. Rowley, Jr. of Boston. District Attorney Harry C. Atwill represented the commonwealth, which was a party to most of the conferences.

GIRL KILLED A VETERAN A LEGACY OF $28,000

G. W. Young Run Over Left Redmond Brothers and Hardie

EDNA L. PILLSBURY HELD BY THE POLICE

Mr. Young the Veteran Died Soon After Accident and Miss Pillsbury is Held in $300

STONEHAM, Oct. 8.—While George W. P. Young, 71, a Civil War veteran of 13 Lincoln street, was crossing Central square yesterday noon, he was run down by an automobile driven by Miss Edna L. Pillsbury, 134 Central street, Winter Hill, Somerville, receiving a broken leg and two bruises. He was taken to his home where he died later in the afternoon.

Woman Held by Police

Miss Pillsbury was accompanied by Orr J. Palmer, an automobile demonstrator, and was trying out the car as a prospective purchaser. She was arrested by the chief of police of Stoneham and held in $300 bonds on a charge of criminal negligence.

Mr. Young was crossing the square and saw the automobile approaching. He stepped out of the way but as he did so he walked right in front of an oncoming street car. To avoid this he stepped back again and was hit by the machine.

Mr. Young was a well known resident of Stoneham, a former shoemaker, and was married and lived with his daughter, Mrs. Charles H. Thorne, his only surviving relative.

Miss Pillsbury, who is about 25 years of age and very popular in Somerville, lives with her father and sister. Her father is an invalid and the daughter was considering buying a car to take him out riding. At the Pillsbury home last night the family denied themselves to visitors.

CIVIL SERVICE

A Number of Examinations Slated to Take Place in This and Other Cities

The civil service commission announces a number of new examinations to take place during the month of October in Lowell, Boston, Lawrence, Fall River, Worcester, and Springfield. On October 23 competitive examinations will be held for the positions of lithographic pressman, malleable iron transfer, and collector and compiler of statistics. All of the above vacancies are in departments of the government at service at Washington, although successful candidates may be transferred or required to travel.

In the case of the examination for lithographic pressman, three years' experience is required on the part of the applicants, in the various departments of the work and otherwise they cannot take the competitive test. The subjects included in these tests are for the most part questions on the matter having a direct bearing on the work, together with questions regarding education, training and general experience and fitness.

YOUNG CURGLAR

10-Year-Old Lad Was Placed Under Arrest by the Boston Police Yesterday

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—The youngest professional burglar ever arrested by the Boston police was taken into custody yesterday, after breaking into two Washington street stores and securing over $100.

William Cashman, who the police of the East Dedham street station say is the youngest professional that they have ever heard of, is 10 years of age, and has been identified with not less than six breaks in as many months.

Oliver G. Garnett, his "pal" and partner, has been caught in three breaks with him. He is a year younger. They were arrested at City Point. They had two revolvers and two flashlights which they had secured on one of their breaks. Their cases were continued in the juvenile court.

New Cambridge Bridge

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—Mayor Fitzgerald will send in an order to the city council at its meeting next Monday, giving the consent of the city of Boston to the building of the new bridge from North Harvard street, Brighton, to Boylston street, Cambridge, near the Stadium, to be built by the Metropolitan park commission, under the authority of chapter 628, Acts of 1910, as amended by chapter 439 of the Acts of 1911 and chapter 32, Acts of 1912.

The bridge itself is to be paid for by Lutz Anderson of Brookline, at a cost of $200,000, but the approaches will be paid for by the Metropolitan park commission and the cities of Boston and Cambridge assessed equally. The cost of the approaches will approximate $40,000.

WORLD'S SERIES

Caused Delay in the Trial of Gambling Suspect at Brockton, Who Wanted to Attend Games

BROCKTON, Oct. 8.—It has long been Brockton's boast that the "big" was on to stay, especially where gambling was concerned, but the city fathers were rudely shocked yesterday when Jefferson H. Parker, an agent of the Watch and Ward society, announced that during the four days of the big fair last week "bookies" were working about the quarterstretch under the eyes of the president of the United States, the governor of Massachusetts, Mayor Howard, congressmen and hundreds of uniformed and plainclothes officers, selling pools on the horse races.

He charged Joseph H. Daley, aged 45, of 376 N. street, South Boston, with having operated the book during the week. Daley pleaded not guilty in the police court yesterday and asked for a continuance, until Thursday morning.

He told Judge Reed that he had made arrangements to leave for New York yesterday afternoon to take in the opening game of the world series today. The court didn't have the heart to allow him of this great privilege, and allowed the continuance for four days, while the courtroom followers, including reporters and officers, followed Daley with envious eyes.

BOXING CLUBS

May Be Organized Into International Union to Supervise Features of the Sport

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—An international affiliation of boxing authorities in England, France, Australia and the United States to supervise certain features of the sport, is favored by the English and French authorities, according to advices received here from Paul Roschae, head of the French Federation of Boxing Clubs.

The suggestion originated with Frank O'Neill of the New York state Athletic commission last April and was revived by O'Neill's recent protest against Billy Papke, who went to France after having refused at the eleventh hour to meet Frank Mantell here. The French authorities decided to take no action against Papke, but the incident emphasized the need of an international affiliation, especially for the supervision of the standing of men, classes and weights.

Roschae has advised the New York authorities that the national sporting club of England is desirous of entering into such an affiliation, and it is suggested that the New York authorities endeavor to bring other boxing centers of the United States into some sort of association to be representative of the whole country.

GRACE HAWTHORNE

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Lowell Opera House

"Mutt and Jeff" come to the Opera House for an engagement of two nights commencing this evening. Mr. Hill, the manager, sends a card and secretary, 15 clever singers, dancers and comedians. Of course, the real big laugh comes when "Mutt and Jeff" appear and it don't take for a minute until you find yourself on the sidewalk after two and a half hours of incessant merriment. It's a play well worth a second visit. You don't get it all the first time. It comes so fast.

WORLD'S SERIES

If you can't see the world's championship games in Boston and New York, you can see them at the Opera House tomorrow, on the perfect score board just as they are played. Every hit, run and error made by a player, with a complete record of the game as it goes on, is shown by the board. It is said to be a wonder. It is next to being at the game itself. A direct wire from the ball grounds brings the story of each play—the score-board tells it so everybody can understand it.

"OVER NIGHT"

The importance of small things in the production of a play is evidenced in the fact that the author of "Over Night," Mr. Philip H. Bartholomae, held the wedding rings had not been provided for Mrs. Kettle and Mrs. Darling, the two brides in his comedy. Just before the curtain went up Mr. Bartholomae was behind the scenes and noticed that the young ladies who were to impersonate these roles were not adorned with these emblems of the married state. He insisted that they must be gotten before the play commenced. It was the time of the evening and the stage manager pleaded with the author that there might be no delay, insisting that the absence of the gold bands would never be noticed. Bartholomae was obstinate, however, and refused to let the play go on without them. It took a lot of searching and a lot of jewelry shop that was open, but the proprietress finally discovered one of the rings and brought it and the performance of "Over Night" proceeded before a delighted audience.

Keith's Theatre

A "full house" witnessed the "royal flush" bill at Keith's theatre last evening and that each of the eight fine plays was appreciated with evidence by the "fine hands" accorded the performers after each trick.

"A Texas Wedding," a western comedy drama, is the trump card of the well selected bill, and the fine impression that the piece made last evening augurs well for its popularity during the remainder of the week. The act is one that is bound to please, it is replete with fine acting, good comedy, and a most picturesque stage setting, and the rendition of a beautiful selection by the leading character of the sketch. The piece hinges around a bashful cowpuncher making love to a pretty cowgirl and these with a full blooded Indian complete the cast of the production.

The role of "Jack," the bashful lover, is taken by Charles R. Middleton, and he portrays his part in a very pleasing manner. He is a good actor, and an exceptionally fine singer, his number being "Last Night," given as the lights are being lowered, being one of the best features of the show. At the completion of the song the lights are focused into a most gorgeous sunset. "Virginia," the cowgirl, is portrayed by Miss Leora Snellmeyer, and her interpretation assists greatly in the remarkable smoothness of the production. "Creeping Snake" is played by Wounded Buffalo, a full blooded Indian, who is appearing by special arrangement with the United States government.

"A Student's Apartment," a college piece, is the offering that Cal. Dean and Leta Price made such a decided hit with last night. This is an act that for fun and laughter certainly takes the "pot." Leta is built like a Councillman, Freddie Welch, and from the time that she steps before the lights until the curtain goes down he has his hearers just splitting. He is most ably assisted by Miss Price. The fun starts when "Shorty" drops into the room that his college chum occupied a year ago, and finding no one in, he makes himself at home. He finally went to the chamber, and then the occupant of the room, Miss Price, blows in. She hears the racket in the adjoining apartment and grabs an old rifle and orders the "burglar" to come out. He does and—well from then on you just must laugh and then laugh some more.

The policeman and the Englishman," given by Armstrong and Ford, was well received and the act deserved all the applause passed over last night. During the act a number of original difficulties is given, the cop being the star dispenser, and when his friend tries to "come back" with a reply, he falls all over himself, and some of his difficulties are equivalent to a number of the foolish questions that are asked over the "phone at times. His part is well taken, and the number is one well worth seeing.

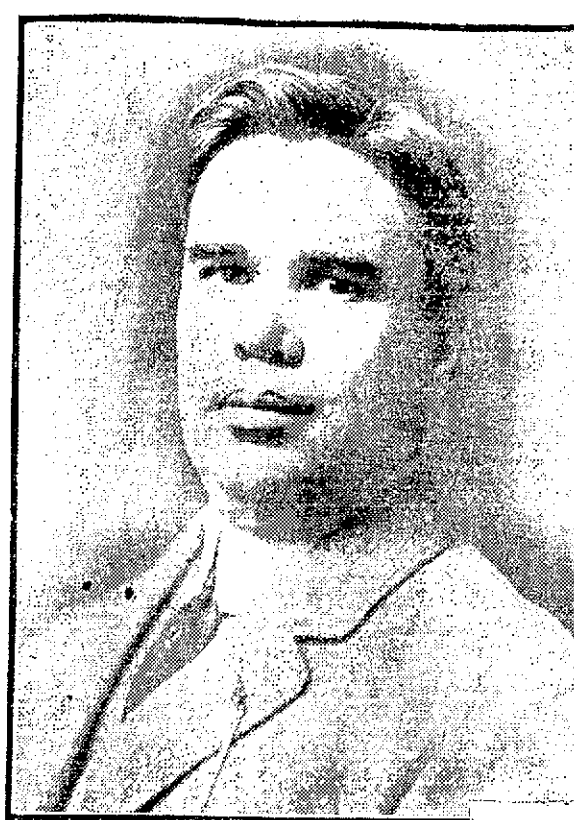

Boyle and Brazil, singers and dancers, who upon entering from the wings announced that they were not going to do anything, do anything but live up to their declaration, and do things that are a machine. They dance, giving an imitation of the famous soft shoe dancers, Primrose and West, in an exceptionally clever manner. They finish their act with the "Infinite dance," which makes a very lively wind up.

William Cahill, listed as "the Man from Ireland," sings a number of Irish songs and tells a number of similar stories that are very good. Irish singing of "Dinnis McGinnis" is his best number. The latter explains how an Irish senator by that name appointed ten Italians to the police force. The act given by the Lester Trio furnishes good amusement to all, and it was well received last evening. Delmore and Ocklin, porch squabblers, are very clever performers and certainly with a series of stunts that are among the best in their line seen here this season. George R. Richmond models in play some of the nation's prominent men and also picks a subject from his audience. His work is well done. The playhouse with excellent musical selections by the theatre orchestra, complete the strong bill.

The Playhouse

"Before and After," a comedy that is guaranteed to put the most confirmed grouch in good humor, is the piece which Mr. Kendall Weston has selected with which to please audiences at the Playhouse this week. The production was indeed well chosen for the accomplishment of this end for an audience which, though not large, nevertheless gave unmistakable evidence of its appreciation at that attractive theatre last evening. It seems to be a rule among theatregoers in this city to ignore a first class play when they have an opportunity of witnessing one and now when these favorites, The Drama Players, are making such marked successes in every piece, drama or comedy, which they present, those who do not attend are missing what is perhaps the best opportunity they have had or will have of seeing the best of the well known plays staged and acted in a manner that is in all truth flawless.

It is no exaggeration to say that Lowell is indeed fortunate in having so clever a company of artists constantly with her to furnish amusement of the highest standard as indeed the Drama

HOWARD SIDNEY

Clever Character Man With the Drama Players at the Playhouse

Players undeniably do. If you like heavy drama, go to the playhouse; if you preferance is for the lighter pieces, again go to the playhouse; for the stock company of stock companies which performs there has proved that it can present either kind to the satisfaction of all.

A true, clean, delightful comedy is "Before and After" and it is one long hearty laugh from the rise to the fall of the curtain. The plot has to do with a certain medicinal discovery which when taken will change the cross and disagreeable person into the sunniest and happiest of individuals. It is some such effect as this that the play itself should have on those who see it. "Sunny Jim" is the name of this discovery, and it produces many an extremely funny situation which the members of the cast carry very commendably. Mr. J. Anthony Smythe, as Dr. Clegg, an ill-tempered physician, is of course excellent, and so is Miss Constance Jackson as "Deeds Devere." To be brief, each and every member of the company plays his and her part with excellent judgment and those who witness "Before and After" if they are cross and out of sorts before the curtain rises, are quite certain to be smiling and good natured at the close of the last act.

Merrimack Square

The Temple Players who were heard to advantage in this city some time ago and who have been away for some time, have returned to the Merrimack Square theatre on a two weeks' engagement and their popularity was shown at yesterday's performances, when they were given a royal greeting. The attendance at both performances was very large and when the Players appeared before the curtain, they were given an ovation and the applause was kept up from the curtain rise to the end of the act. This week they present "At the Seashore."

Miss Hawthorne is still at the head of the players and her singing is as pleasing as ever. Her numbers include "The Isle of Roses and Love," "If You Remember Me," while her last number is a sailor song rendered in an artistic manner.

The other eight members of the cast include Mae Lawless, Josephine Barry, Winifred Gilchrist, Miss Wood and George Lewis, old favorites who are heard to good advantage. The numbers as given are: Medley by the company; "The Isle of Roses and Love," Miss Hawthorne; the bathing number, by Miss Rose Maurer and girls; "On the Road to Mandalay," Jurgis; "You're a Cowboy," Miss Franklyn Wood and George Lewis; Russian dance, Winifred Gilchrist; "Rag Time Soldier Man," Mae Lawless and Josephine Barry; "Joys of an Irish Dance," Jack Foley; "If You Remember Me," Miss Hawthorne; "Everybody Loves a Chicken," by the company; "When You're Away," Miss Wood and company; finale, the jacks number, by Miss Hawthorne and company.

Another very interesting act and one that was well received is that of Romayne, the eccentric rag-time violinist. The artist, for such this he is, plays several classical pieces which are listened to with great interest, while his rag-time selections are very enjoyable. Each number was well applauded and enjoyed.

Ermano and Goodwin are very witty and for 20 minutes they supply all the fun desirable with their funny sayings and gymnastic feats.

Flood and Erma, two young women, are about as clever jugglers as has been seen at this theatre, for a long time. Their act is new and well worth seeing.

The motion plays for the first three days of the week are especially interesting and include a series of views of baseball pictures that will appeal to the fans, as well as a fine motion picture view of the Pueblo Indian villages of New Mexico. There are comedy of the Academy last evening. Wednesday the Academy will give a recreation to the ladies of Lowell and she wants to meet them all. She will present each one a photograph of herself. The Tomorrow in their comedy musical act made a hit with their original comedy. Margaret Heilig, a charming singer and dancer received her share of attention. The pictures were all good. Tonight is grab night and Manager Church announces something still better than last time. Wednesday night for amateurs with the usual bushel of fun. Something new every night at the academy.

Academy of Music

Never before has an individual act been given such a reception as the Princess Susanna, the smallest woman performer on the stage received at the Academy last evening. Wednesday afternoon she will give a recreation to the ladies of Lowell and she wants to meet them all. She will present each one a photograph of herself. The Tomorrow in their comedy musical act made a hit with their original comedy. Margaret Heilig, a charming singer and dancer received her share of attention. The pictures were all good. Tonight is grab night and Manager Church announces something still better than last time. Wednesday night for amateurs with the usual bushel of fun. Something new every night at the academy.

Theatre Voyons

The ever strenuous Tedde is one of the features at the Theatre Voyons to him at his home. At Oyster Bay, work, at play and indulging in exercise. Florence Turner in "She Cried," a Viennese comedy in a long, hearty laugh. She acts the character of a weeping sister to the king's taste and her long and fast all through the picture. Mrs. Pickford in "A Feud in the Kentucky Hills" plays a difficult part well and the drama shown in pictures.

The Casino

Don't forget old timers' night tomorrow. It will be just as successful an event as any of its predecessors, and that means solid enjoyment for the people who like the music of 20 and 30 years ago. The concerts are always free, and the big Casino orchestra is always in attendance.

THE VISITING BITTERN

Released by the Ornithologist of the Humane Society Together With the Fish Warden

The bittren, that gay young bird which came to Lowell yesterday to get a taste of city life and which was found inspecting the press in the basement of the new Sun building, was taken on the electric cars yesterday afternoon and returned to the wilds in which he feels more at home.

With the possible exception of a few unpleasant experiences, such as being locked up and forced to endure the curious gaze of many of the people of this city, Mr. Bittren had a very pleasant trip. His life was saved for the bird and game laws of this state name a fine of from $10 to $50 for killing this species of bird or for using the plumage for millinery purposes.

Humane Agent Richardson, together with Fish Warden Harry Gonzales, took the feathered visitor to North Berwick and far out in the country opened the cage and set the bird free. The latter, however, seemed in no hurry, and it stood on the ground and looked complacently about for a few minutes as if trying to decide whether it preferred life in the city or to live in the rural districts. Finally, it flapped its wings, rose into the air and after circling about for a short time flew directly and swiftly eastward, no doubt seeking first the ocean and then a warmer climate.

Ohio Progressives Lose

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 8.—Ohio progressives were defeated today in their efforts to overrule the recent opinion of Secretary of State Graves that the name of a candidate can appear on the ballot under only one party designation, when the state supreme court took the ground that it could not overrule the decision of the secretary of state.

In many Ohio counties the progressives had nominated the regular republican or democratic tickets. The holding of Secretary Graves will mean that the progressive ticket will now remain vacant as it is now too late under the law to file nominating petitions.

EXTENSIVE REPAIRS MADE

At Hose 10 House in Fourth Street

Among the latest improvements and changes which have been made in the Lowell fire department is the recent renovation of the quarters of Hose 10 in Fourth street.

Extensive repairs and additions have been made on the building of this company and it now possesses what is practically a new interior. Formerly the sleeping apartments comprised one large room in which were several beds. Now there are 10 fine individual sleeping rooms on the second floor, an attractive sitting room, shower and tub baths and toilets for the accommodation of the men in the company. The finishing touches are just being put on these rooms and they will be ready for occupancy at an early date.

These vast improvements were accomplished by tearing away the old single partition and building a number of new ones, thus dividing what was once one great dormitory into 10 individual rooms. The place has been painted and varnished and the floors polished and soon Hose 10 will have the most attractive quarters in Lowell.

Authorities are now planning to install an engine in this house and so make it an engine and hose house combined. There is at present an engine house, but it was sent them from the Palmer street station to undergo repairs. The engine which is now with No. 3 company on Palmer street will be removed to Hose 10 on Fourth street. This engine was formerly in Station No. 2 on Branch street. The one which is now in the Fourth street station will be returned to Palmer street. This change in the company will mean that several new men may have to be added. Hose 10 now comprises five permanent men and four call men.

BRYAN TO SPEAK

He Will Take Part in the Campaign in This State—Other Famous Orators to Be Heard

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—Chairman Thomas P. Riley of the democratic state committee is spending a few days in Norfolk, Va., returning before the active work of the democratic campaign in Massachusetts begins.

Judge Riley has secured a number of speakers of national reputation to take the stump in Massachusetts during the campaign. Among others, it is promised that William Jennings Bryan will be in Lowell. Other speakers are Senator Olie James of Kentucky, John Sharp Williams of Missouri and Speaker Champ Clark.

Chairman Riley was informed during his interview with Chairman McAdoo of the Wilson campaign committee in New York that the state has a fine choice of the speakers available for the democratic campaign in Massachusetts.

The national committee gave Chairman Riley to understand that he would have entire control of the Wilson campaign in this state.

Chairman Riley will inaugurate an active campaign in every legislative district in the state. The democratic campaign will be carried largely on the legislative.

THE FIRE DEPT.

Was Given a Needless Run to the Corner of Chelmsford and Jeness Streets Today

A portion of the fire department was given a long and needless run to the corner of Chelmsford and Jeness streets shortly before 9 o'clock this morning as a result of some person pulling in a false alarm from box 381. When the firemen arrived at the box there was no sign of a fire and after inquiry of various residents in the vicinity Chief Hosmer decided that it was a false alarm. No clue to the identity of the person who sounded the alarm could be found. The matter has been reported to the police.

AGED WOMAN KILLED

One of the Old Residents of South Boston Killed by Fall in Her Room Last Night

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—A fall out of bed is believed to have caused the death of Mrs. Sarah A. Sidelinger, one of the oldest residents of South Boston, at her home, 758 East Fifth street, last night. She was 87 years old, and, except for illness incident to old age, had been in good health.

Less than half an hour after Mrs. Sidelinger retired to her room, Mrs. Annie Higgins, a neighbor, heard a thud on the floor, and hurrying to the room found the aged woman prostrate on the floor.

Dr. R. W. Fletcher of 783 East Broadway responded to a summons and declared that death had been caused by heart disease, superinduced, believed, by fall from the bed.

FATAL BUNGLING OF N. Y. FIREMEN

There was a fire in New York city Sunday morning in which two women lost their lives, and it is a similar fire occurred in Lowell and the firemen showed such stupidity and helplessness in the face of danger, we believe there would be a new chief and some new captains in a very short time. The fire was in a restaurant and the flames arose to the third floor above, there burning in the occupants. When the firemen arrived they went to the rear instead of to the front where women were suffocating with smoke. When the ladders were hoisted in front they proved to be too short and then there seemed to be a spell of stupefaction as the firemen simply stood below watching women frantically screaming for help at a third story window. Finally a ladder was found to reach them. Two were taken out dead and two were rescued alive. With prompt response to the alarm, there should have been no fatality. The lives of the two women were sacrificed by the bungling and lack of discipline among the men. These men certainly need the drill, and if there is any more such stupidity at fires, the men responsible should be presented with leather medals or something more serious.

TAKING THE CROSS-OVER

When an express train takes a cross-over at the rate of fifty miles an hour, it is not at all surprising that the locomotive leaps from the tracks. The surprising thing in such a case would be to find the locomotive stick to the tracks. When a train is going at high speed in a straight line the danger of taking a cross-over not in that line is so great that no experienced engineer should risk the ordeal at a speed of over fifteen miles an hour, the rate fixed by the rules of the road. But this rule was forgotten lately at Westport, Conn., last week with the result that the Boston express for New York was wrecked, eleven killed and over twenty injured. It is another instance of the unreliability of the human factor in the problem of absolute safety. But as another accident of the same kind occurred a short time ago at that very same place, the public is wondering whether these dreadful accidents cause the company to adopt any precautions to prevent them.

LOOKING TO FINAL VICTORY

The recent convention of the United Irish league in this country was the most enthusiastic held since land league days. The friends of the movement are getting somewhat apprehensive lest the end of freedom should again be dashed from Ireland's lips and thus confirm the tradition of an evil fate pursuing the Emerald Isle and so often confirmed by events in her past history; but the men on the firing line in parliament are quite confident that home rule will be an accomplished fact in two years at the latest. The noise in the north of Ireland has only served to stir the friends of the movement to more enthusiasm in the fight for final victory.

Premier Asquith promises not to be moved from his purpose to give Ireland home rule by the howl of the Ulster faction. As he says, matters would be worse if the majority in Ireland should take the law into their own hands.

GOVERNOR WILSON'S CARTOON

Governor Wilson is making the issues in this campaign thoroughly understood in his tour of the west. He has pointed out that in the past the monopolies got what they wanted through large contributions to the republican party, but now they want an industrial commission to control monopolies, knowing that with the right kind of commission which they would get from either wing of the republican party, the great combines would be as before. Governor Wilson suggests a cartoon which in due time will be put into concrete form and published. He would have the biggest monopolies of the United States drawn up in a line and have in front of them a line of soldiers in a Hallelujah chorus. That idea will furnish one of the best cartoons of the campaign.

THE GREEK WAR CLOUD

It is probable that war will be prevented in the Balkans. Turkey has made peace with Italy in order to avoid annihilation by the allies, and she may grant some concessions in the Balkans that will prevent an outbreak.

The local Greeks apparently got worked into unnecessary excitement under the assumption that volunteers would be called for. The war department of Greece, it seems, wants only the reservists, that is those who have already served in the Greek army. Of these there are not over 500 in Lowell. It is, therefore, no cause to look for an exodus of Greeks even if war were declared.

THE BULL MOOSE PARTY

The Bull Moose candidate for governor has been heard in Lowell, and the crowd that went to hear him did not indicate any great enthusiasm. It was really amusing to see the crowd that went to hear Mr. Bird because that both the republican and democratic parties have outlived their usefulness and that the only hope of the country today lies in the Bull Moose party which carries mainly of Col. Roosevelt. Mr. Osgood makes a good speech even in a weak cause, and his effort of last night was up to his usually high standard.

We cannot conceive of anything more contemptible or cowardly than the act of the chauffeur or autoist who runs over a man, woman or child and then dashes ahead at full speed to escape detection. If a bullet overlook any such coward to cut short his speeding and rid the community of a positive source of danger, it would serve him right; but any such course is forbidden by law, even to the man left dying on the road.

Another murder in New York, and an important witness in the Rosen case has been shot to death. The murderer in this case has been caught and he protests that he was not hired to do the job. The man who was murdered was a noted gambler and the murderer is not much better. New York will be well rid of both, but the occurrence shows that there are yet undetected gamblers and plenty of gamblers ready to take a man off about the time he threatens to "squell."

The adjournment of the Ettore-Giovannitti case till October 14 will give the I. W. W. leaders time to cool off. The adjournment, however, is not made out of any consideration for the outside agitators but because the first venue of testimony was exhausted and another has to be called.

The I. W. W. need not feel the slightest alarm for the safety of Haywood, Ettore and Giovannitti. The people who oppose the lawless tendencies of the I. W. W. do not resort to violence in such cases. If Ettore be set free he will be sincerely congratulated even by those who assisted in having him arrested.

Teddy denies everything. Who thought he would do anything else?

The large street job will have a big ledger account.

TO BIG A LOAD

Seen and Heard

A girl who marries a man to reform him seldom has an opportunity to sit down, complacently and admire her successful work.

A man has reason to think that he is making progress in business when he has a private office from which he can shout "Boss" every little while.

No matter how tall a girl is, she doesn't generally look down on the men.

EXCUSES

He always is prompt with excuses. Whenever he's called up for blame, he marshals them up in procession. Though some of them, maybe, are lame.

He's ready with glib explanations. To show that the fault isn't his. And he tries to persuade you it isn't.

Though you know very well that it is.

He always can find palliation. For any mistake he has made. It would be most unjust, he assures you.

If you should reproach or upbraid, He's blameless and innocent always. His excuse is really sublime. And he frequently slides off a smiling, but he's sure to get fired in time!

—Somerville Journal.

After a man has got into state prison for life, it is rather late for him to begin thinking of reform.

When other ways of entertaining a boy run out, give him something to eat.

If a man on an ocean steamer that makes four hundred miles a day walks up and down the deck two hours, it takes three miles an hour, how many miles does he walk?

When a young man begins to think that he is a genius, it is usually all up with him.

"Could you tell us how far it is to the postoffice?" we asked of the man standing on the railway platform.

"I have no idea," he replied.

"Well, in which direction is it?"

"I have not formed an opinion."

"Can we walk there or should we take a car?"

"I could not say."

"There is a postoffice here, is there not?"

"I would not decide that with my present information."

"But every town has a postoffice, hasn't it?"

"I have not talked with anybody on the subject."

"Is there anyone around here who can tell us?"

"I have not read any of the newspapers."

"But, man, you surely know whether or not there is a postoffice?"

"I could not give a decisive answer to that."

"But don't you live here?"

"I have never given the matter any thought."

"Where do you live?"

"I have no normal idea in the matter."

"Great guns, man! You know you're alive, don't you?"

"I should be guided entirely by the evidence."

Here a listener plucked our sleeve, suddenly. He took us to one side and said:

"You won't get anything out of him if you quiz him all day. That's Pete Hobawot, who's been on so many jury panels it has affected him."

Milady's Toilet Table

By MRS. D. M. HILL

"When occasion demands quick hair-dressing, nothing is finer than a dry shampoo, made by mixing four ounces of olive root with a package of toilet soap. Rub a little over the head, brush out—and your scalp is clean and your hair beautifully restored, again, away and easy to do up."

The world never saw the equal of Mother's Salve as a pain killer. It is easy to use, quick to act, and should be applied to stop headache, or ache in back or joints, to reduce swelling, to allay inflammation, or to relieve pain in any part of the body.

"Ladies troubled with fuzzy growths are delighted to learn that delicate remedies are available without pain or injury. Make a paste with delicate and water, spread it on the hairs, let remain for a few minutes, then remove and wash with soap."

THE PRIMARY TEACHERS

Were Addressed by
Supt. Molloy

The teachers of the primary grades of the local schools met in High school hall yesterday afternoon at half past four to discuss plans for the ensuing year. A great deal of interest was shown in the work and the meeting was very largely attended.

Superintendent of Schools Hugh J. Molloy presided and he addressed the gathering with regard to grade teaching. He said that the best work in teaching is done along the older lines, and that the fads and novelties which occasionally creep in are worth little as educational factors.

The two most important studies of the primary grades are arithmetic and reading, was the statement of Mr. Molloy, and the substance of his address had to do with that fact throughout. "The fads," he said, "come in by the front door at high noon and go out at night by the rear window." They form an educational bluff. To the good reader, he said, are open all the written fields of study. He illustrated his words in many lines from events in his own knowledge and experience, and his words were very encouraging and instructive.

In the end Mr. Molloy suggested that a committee of five be chosen to nominate two committees of twelve members each, one of which will endeavor to promote work along the line of reading and the other to take charge of the arithmetic. This was done and the committees will begin their activities at once. All have shown a great interest and willingness in the work.

SAVED BY A REPORTER

Alderman in Danger of Being Killed

BROCKTON, Oct. 8.—The agility of George M. Gifford, a newspaperman, saved Alderman Charles R. Hillberg from possible death at city hall last evening, when the alderman attempted to leave an elevator that was stalled half way between the first and second floors.

The elevator carried Mayor Harry C. Howard and Aldermen Chas. S. Bragdon, Fred C. Creedon, Patrick F. McMahon, Chas. H. Burden and Chas. H. Hillberg.

Just as the top of the elevator passed, the second floor door opened and the crowd to crawl through. Alderman Bragdon and some of the city hall officials passed penknives through the elevator grating to the men caged inside and otherwise taunted them to such an extent that Alderman Hillberg decided to climb to the floor above. He had the door open and he was about to step out when the car started from below. City Messenger Seth L. French, had the car dropped instead of going upward. Alderman Hillberg would undoubtedly have been cut in two. As it was he could not have reached the floor safely without the assistance of Mr. Gifford, who was standing near the elevator. He was pulled from the car as it shot past the door.

Mayor Howard, who a few years ago saw a man cut in two under exactly the same circumstances, was visibly affected, as were others who witnessed the rescue.

The aldermen passed an order, without reference to the highway committee, providing for crushed stone sidewalks on Lyster street. The highway committee refused to do the work, even after the four representatives from the division order passed early in the year.

Alderman McMahon presented the order, and it was opposed by Alderman Bragdon, chairman of the highway committee. Alderman Bragdon wanted the order laid on the table, but his motion was defeated. The order was passed, with Alderman Bragdon alone opposing it.

MATRIMONIAL

The following is taken from the Pasadena Daily News of Pasadena, Cal.: "Decorations of Riley's cigar store on Fair Oaks avenue today were of a nature to cause considerable amusement and speculation among passersby. The various details of the decorations suggested matrimony, however, it was found that this was the formal announcement made in the absence of the proprietor, Edward J. Riley, of his marriage yesterday to Miss Minnie Granger of 762 Winona avenue. Mr. Riley is a prominent member of the Blue and Arrows lodge, and knowing the tendencies of his brethren upon such occasions, thought to keep facts concealed until several days had elapsed. This was not successful, however, and as soon as Mr. Riley had left yesterday to go to the residence of Rev. Fr. White, where the ceremony was to be held, the work of advertising the store began, the alluring words: 'Free cigars,' 'Free shaves,' 'Free pool' and similar legends being inscribed on the windows."

"Only the immediate relatives of the bride were present at the wedding. Mr. Riley has been in Pasadena about a year, and has made many friends here. Granger also has a wide circle of acquaintances, who will be surprised to learn that today she is Mrs. Riley. They are staying for a short time at the home of the bride, while they make preparations to establish their own residence."

Mr. Riley is well known here, having been associated with the Pawtucket bowling alleys and boat house previous to his departure for the west.

OWENS-TIBBETTS

A quiet but pretty wedding took place last night at the home of the residence of Mrs. J. L. Tibbetts, 124 Mansur street, when her daughter, Agnes Isabel, was married to Rev. Thomas William Owens, in the presence of relatives and a few friends.

The bride was given in white chiffon, with pearl trimmings and veil, carried a bouquet of the double white Killarney roses.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. W. Cummings of the First Baptist church, assisted by Rev. J. T. Carroll of the Centralville Methodist church.

The Germania Ladies' orchestra furnished music. Mr. and Mrs. Owens will reside in Braintree, Vt.

ST. VITUS' DANCE

The Cure of This Case Is of Vital Interest to the Parents of Every Nervous Child.

Mr. James F. Thompson, a well-known printer, of No. 301 West Iowa street, Memphis, Tenn., has recently told of a cure in his family that will interest every nervous sufferer. Parents of pale, weak, nervous school children will be especially interested. Mr. Thompson said:

"I have a son, Ray, who at the age of five years was scared by some boys. In about two weeks' time he broke down or gave away completely. He had to go to bed and the doctors said that he had St. Vitus' dance. During the entire night and for many nights he would lie awake and cry. He could not sleep at all, but would roll and toss all night long. His arms and head jerked and twitched and he became so nervous that he could not feed himself. He got so that he couldn't even speak. He had particularly bad spells, which came on about every three months. He was confined to bed for two months when he was first taken sick."

"I had a nerve specialist and two of the best physicians in Memphis with him during the first year of the disease. They couldn't do anything for him and didn't help him a bit. Finally the last physician said that he would have to outgrow it. I then bought a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They helped him right away and, although he had been sick for a year and a half, he began to eat and to gain strength. I gave him the pills until he entirely recovered his health. He has never had an attack of St. Vitus' dance since. He is attending school and is in perfect health."

St. Vitus' dance, nervous debility or neurasthenia, neuralgia, sciatica, vertigo, headaches and nervous dyspepsia are due to tired, weak, exhausted nerves. The correct treatment in all cases is to build up and purify the blood, which alone can give the nerves nourishment. Unless you build up the blood, it is useless to try to reach the nerves with medicine or nourishment. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain the very elements which enable the blood to nourish the nerves until they become strong.

Write today for the free booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50c. per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

champions of their organization for the world's title. To the winners of the four out of the seven game series also goes the large share of the money prize, reckoned at more than one hundred thousand dollars.

Day broke clear and crisp and the weather man promised a fine afternoon for the game. Groundkeeper Murphy looked out over the field of the polo grounds and reported a diamond ready for fast playing.

Neither of the rival managers was prepared to announce his batting order early today, for everything depended upon the selections for box work just before the game. Should Boston send their left hander, Ray Collins, to the slab instead of Joe Wood, Manager McGraw of the Giants would likely switch Snodgrass from center to leftfield and replace Outelder Devore, who is weak against "southern" with Becker. Thus the uncertainty over the pitching selections indicated some jockeying of batting orders just before the umpire in chief cried: "Play ball" at two o'clock.

The probable batting order of the teams, however, follows:

Umpires—Klem, Evans, Rigler and O'Loughlin.

The early comers began to gather at the gates of the Brush stadium early last night to be first in line when the gates opened at 8 o'clock this morning. By midnight this line had grown to 500 persons. Many of them had brought camp stools or boxes upon which to take an occasional sitting.

A woman appeared in line just after midnight and was cheered. She was not long without feminine company.

By sunrise a score of women were found in the shivering trail that led from the yellow gates down toward the "L" station at 15th street. Club officials estimated that there were 4000 people at the gates at eight o'clock.

This early throng was formed in a line, four abreast, and when the gates were flung open there was no rush for the unreserved sections in the lower grand stand and for the "bleacher" seats back of the outfield. About 30,000 such seats were on sale today, the reserved seats having been previously disposed of.

The Giants are confident of the outcome of the series. The home players expect to win but at the same time they expect to be fought until the last man is put out. "None among our boys hold the Red Sox cheap," remarked "Chief" Meyers, the Indian catcher of the Giants who was one of the first players to report at the clubhouse this morning. Soon after the "chief" came Mathewson, Merkle and the other players for there were 100 to be sharpened and bats and uniforms to be inspected. Few of the players were recognized in their street clothes as they edged their way through the jam at the entrance.

"We naturally expect to win," said Captain Larry Doyle, the Giants' second baseman. "We'll try of course to make it four straight. What more can anyone say? Luck plays her part in baseball as in everything else. I have never been able to figure luck in advance. We have a fine team, one ready to make plenty of action. As to the Boston, well they must be a good ball club to win a pennant. One hears much of their fine pitching staff but haven't the Giants been hitting good pitchers all the year? I think can hit Joe Wood and the other Red Sox hurlers. And it must not be forgotten that the Red Sox have yet to show whether they can hit such pitching as will be served by Marty, Tesreau and Babe Adams. In a short series of seven games pitching is the big factor and the Giants have a rattling lot of boxmen."

Manager John J. McGraw of the Giants would only say that the Giants were prepared to make a hard fight. McGraw has looked the Red Sox over and stated the line point of their play but the New York players said this morning it was doubtful if he had laid out any plan of battle in advance. They know him as a man who depends on quick judgment on the field.

The Red Sox are in fine fettle. Beyond the injury to Larry Gardner, no serious work was reported to Manager Stahl by his men when they turned out this morning. Gardner will hold down his left position at third base unless his injured finger gives him trouble. Clyde Engle will take his place should Gardner be compelled to retire. Engle is a good player but has not Gardner's fielding or hitting ability.

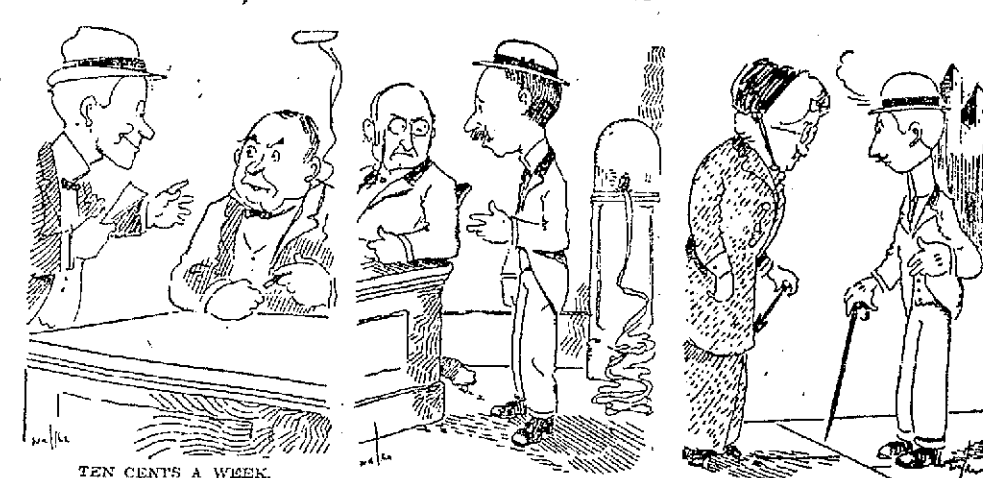

Manager Stahl had primed Joe Wood, his star pitcher, for duty today but there were reports that Stahl might send in Ray Collins. "I think our season's records will justify me in saying this much about the series with the Giants," said Stahl, "and that is that there won't be one game that our opponents won't have to knock us down to win."

Thousands of dollars have been wagered on the outcome of the series. Boston was the favorite at ten to eight and ten to nine. Betting this morning found plenty of Boston money in sight. Sets at 6 to 5 that Boston would win if Joe Wood pitches today were popular with the visitors.

33,000 PEOPLE WILL PAY TO SEE THE GAME AT FENWAY PARK TOMORROW

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—Business Boston became baseball Boston today. Bostonians, always interested in the national pastime were absorbed in following the fortunes of the Red Sox in their opening world's series battle against the Giants in New York. REPORTS RECEIVED THAT MONTENEGRO TROOPS HAVE CROSSED FRONTIER

BEIGRADE, Oct. 8.—Reports reached here today that Montenegrin troops had crossed the Turkish frontier. The Serbian parliament today voted an appropriation for military purposes, while the merchants of this city are making large gifts to the funds being raised for the assistance of poor families whose breadwinners have been called up for military service. Three hundred beds with seven doctors and 45 nurses sent here by the Russian Red Cross society, arrived here today.

DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS BETWEEN TURKEY AND MONTENEGRO BROKEN OFF

LONDON, Oct. 8.—It is officially announced in Constantinople that diplomatic relations between Turkey and Montenegro have been broken off, according to a new agency despatch from the Turkish capital.

DECLARATION OF WAR FORESTALLED THE ACTION OF POWERS

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The declaration of war on Turkey reported from Constantinople to have been made today by the little kingdom of Montenegro, forestalled the action of the European powers in favor of peace by only a few hours.

The ambassadors at Constantinople and the ministers of the capitals of Bulgaria, Serbia and Montenegro had been instructed to make representations on behalf of their governments this morning and a despatch from Belgrade confirms the report that their program has been carried out there.

It is feared generally in diplomatic quarters here that the action of Montenegro has precipitated and the fighting reported to have taken place between Turkish and Montenegrin troops on the frontier will jeopardize the whole situation and tend to frustrate the efforts of diplomacy.

It is thought likely that the other Balkan states may decide to follow the lead of Montenegro and throw their armies into Turkey to fight on behalf of those of their kinsmen and fellow Christians, who, they declare, have suffered so much from Turkish oppression.

The situation of the Christians in Albania and Macedonia and the demand of the Balkan states that these provinces should be granted auton-ous government are the main causes of the crisis. It was in an effort to force a settlement of these questions that Bulgaria, Serbia, Greece and Montenegro ordered the mobilization of their armies. This led the Ottoman government to call up some hundreds of thousands of its reserves and, it is believed, at strategic points along the frontier. At the same time the Balkan armies have been gathering on the other side and it is calculated that something near a million men are face to face. Exactly how the situation stands in Turkey is not known as telegrams from that country are subject to a strict censorship and great delay.

FLAG OF ITALY IS RULED OUT

15,000 People to Take Part in the Columbus Day Parade in Lawrence Saturday

LAWRENCE, Oct. 8.—The principal incident yesterday in this troubled city was an appeal by Rev. Fr. Mariano Milanese, the Italian priest, for permission to carry the flag of their native land in the patriotic parade on Saturday which a committee of citizens is arranging. His request met with refusal.

He was told that this parade was prompted by the demonstration a week ago Sunday, when "no American flag, only the red flag of anarchy," was carried and its purpose was to show there is only one flag, the Stars and Stripes, and that flag is for all.

The priest said that he came as a messenger of peace and he appealed to the "hearts, not the minds" of the committee.

"The majority of Italians are not anarchists," Fr. Milanese said, "and we want to do our best to show the American people that we are good citizens. The Italians have been working three months making arrangements for a parade in observance of Columbus day. National flags are not flags of anarchy. We respect our own flag. If you can not allow us to carry this flag many of my people will not come out, then it will be said that the Italians are all bad. We want to destroy that feeling."

We have been in business in this town for some time, and we are looking to build up a trade by always advising our patrons right.

So when we tell you that we have found the eczema remedy and that we stand back of it with the manufacturer's full guarantee, backed by ourselves you can depend upon it that we give our advice not in order to sell a few bottles of medicine to skin sufferers, but because we know how it will help our business if we help our patrons.

We keep in stock and sell all the well known skin remedies. Just say this: If you are suffering from any kind of skin trouble, eczema, psoriasis, rash or itching, we want you to try a full size bottle of D. D. D. Prescription. And, if it does not do the work, this bottle will cost you nothing. You alone to judge.

Again and again we have seen how a few drops of this simple wash applied to the skin, takes away the itch, instantly. And the cure all seem to be permanent.

D. D. D. Prescription made by the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago, is composed of thymol, glycerine, oil of wintergreen and other healing, soothing, cooling ingredients. And if you are just crazy with itch, you will feel soothed and cooled, the itch absolutely washed away the moment you applied this D. D. D.

We have made fast friends of more than one family by recommending this remedy to a skin sufferer here, and there and we want you to try it now on our positive no-pay guarantee.

FALLS & BURKINSHAW

I want to have 5000 men in line. Grant this permission for peace's sake.

15,000 Paraders

He was advised that the committee had decided this matter fully before and that only the Stars and Stripes would be allowed. It was a parade for the flag under which all lived and which protected all.

Traditionally last evening the committee had met with representatives of various organizations which have been invited to take part and reports as to the approximate number who would be in line were received. These estimates totalled about 15,000, and a number of societies had yet to take action on the matter.

Three thousand school children will be in line. One representative said that he appeared for 600 women, who were Americans and wished to show it. Several of the delegates said that their societies have engaged music.

A Serbian, who had been a member of the executive committee of the strikers last winter, said that his people had voted to take part, they desired to carry no emblem other than the American flag and would furnish their own band. A woman delegate urged attending church on the morning of the parade and by receiver and other citizens offer atonement for the disrespect shown in the banner of the parade a week ago which bore the inscription "No God, No Master."

The committee held to its previous decision to have all of either sex, who desired, take part. The plan of Col. W. H. Donovon, chairman of the committee and chief marshal of the parade, is to have the paraders assemble on the common at the conclusion of the route of march and join in singing patriotic airs.

The uneasiness that exists among some of the mill operatives was further illustrated yesterday when 40 or 50 men walked out of the Wood mill because they felt there was a determination to "weed out" certain of their number from the mill. It was said that the ones in charge gave evidence of discriminating against some of them and others walked from the mill.

Carlo Tresca, the Italian organizer of the I. W. W., was called to Lexington hall to address them. The plan of the I. W. W. involves claims of apprehension lest the leaders meet with violence are still made. Tresca went about yesterday followed by numerous admirers. Haywood and Hasekwood went away from the city yesterday afternoon by automobile.

There was a flurry of excitement on Lawrence street near Elm street yesterday afternoon when an I. W. W. follower is said to have been set upon and roughly handled by a group of young fellows. One side said that an indignity had been offered the American flag. The I. W. W. version was that an attempt had been made to remove the organization's button from the coat of a member. No arrests were made.

QUESTION IS RAISED

As to Eligibility of Bates and Gaston

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—Did the republican state convention Saturday blunder when it nominated ex-Gov. John L. Bates for a Taft elector at large? Did the democrats err in naming Col. William A. Gaston as a Wilson elector at large?

These questions were raised yesterday by Charles L. Burrill, one of the leading progressive republicans who went to Chicago as a Roosevelt delegate but refused to follow the colonel into the Bull Moose party and is now supporting Taft.

Mr. Burrill pointed out that under the constitution of the United States it is provided that: "Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the congress; but no senator or representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector."

Says Mr. Burrill: "It may be that Col. Gaston, who is president of the National Shawmut bank, is eligible, but I think that Mr. Bates is clearly ineligible, but, of course, I should bow to the opinion of a good lawyer in both cases."

"In Mr. Bates' case it seems to be as if the last clause of that part of article 2, section 2, quoted, which states that 'No senator or representative or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States shall be appointed an elector,' covers his case and raises a doubt of his eligibility. Mr. Bates is receiver of the National City bank of Cambridge, wrecked by going Coleman. That is certainly a position of trust and profit."

"I raise the point not for the purpose of embarrassing either candidate. Both are good friends of mine, but there is any doubt about their eligibility, this is the time to raise it and settle it."

In case it should be held that both were not eligible nominees, the democratic and republican state committees would have to be called together, accept their resignations and name new candidates.

Col. Gaston said last evening he had heard of the contention and that he was having the matter looked up. "I am told," said he, "that the question was raised some years ago and that it was decided that a National bank director was not a federal officeholder within the meaning of the law."

CENSUS FIGURES

Shows Foreign-Born White Males of Voting Age in Continental United States

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 8.—According to the last census, taken as of April 15, 1910, the number of foreign-born white males of voting age, that is, 21 and over, in the United States (not including Alaska, Hawaii, Porto Rico, or other outlying territory) was 8,646,171. Of this number, 3,034,117, or 35.1 per cent, were naturalized. This statement was issued today by Director Durand of the bureau of the census, department of commerce and labor, the statistics having been prepared under the direction of William C. Hunt, chief statistician for population in the census bureau, and being given out subject to revision.

Approximately nine-tenths (89.4 per cent) of the foreign-born white males of voting age were of European origin. 2.8 per cent were natives of American countries other than the United States, and 0.8 per cent were natives of other countries. Very heavily outnumbered by some natives of the countries grouped in the accompanying table under the heading "North-west Europe," and of these approximately two-thirds (2,151,421, or 65 per cent), were naturalized. Of the 2,637,458 natives of the countries comprising the southern and eastern divisions of Europe, taken together, 551,206, or 21.1 per cent, were naturalized. The countries of low percentage in the table are generally countries from which recent immigration has largely come, the lowness of the percentages being partially due to the fact that naturalization implies a minimum residence within the country of five years. Natives of Germany, of whom there were 1,278,679 in the country, greatly outnumbered every other nationality among foreign white males 21 years and over, and showed, moreover, the highest percentage naturalized, namely, 69.5 per cent. Of the 727,139 natives of Russia, who constituted the second largest group, 26.1 per cent, were naturalized; of the 17,827 natives of Italy, 17.7 per cent, of the 60,052 natives of Austria, 24.6 per cent. The four following nationalities showed relatively high percentages naturalized: Natives of Ireland 67.8, of Canada 51, of England 59.4, and of Sweden 62.8; among natives of Hungary, the only other group exceeding 250,000, the percentage naturalized, 14.3, is very low. Natives of these nine countries in the aggregate account for 5,308,970, or approximately five-sixths (82.9 per cent) of the total number of foreign-born white males of voting age. The lowest proportion naturalized is shown by the small groups of natives of Montenegro, numbering 4,529, with a percentage naturalized of 2.7.

MAN ORDERED TO PAY FINE OF $10

He Was Found Guilty of Cruelty to Horses by Judge Enright in Court Today

Theodore Bernard got into trouble Bridge street, said he was passing himself this morning as a result of having James Carr brought before the court for alleged assault and battery in Bridge street yesterday afternoon, after Carr had been discharged on the assault and battery complaint. Bernard was called upon to answer to two complaints charging him with cruelty to horses. Although Bernard entered a plea of not guilty, Judge Enright found him guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $10.

The first case tried was that of assault and battery in which it was alleged that Carr struck Bernard over the head with the butt end of a horse whip. Bernard was the first witness and he testified that he resides at 673 Lakeview avenue and had been in the employ of John Brady, the teaming man, who was hauling stone from the city lodge yesterday morning. Yesterday noon he felt tired and sat down at the corner of Hildreth street and Lilley avenue and when he awoke shortly after 1 o'clock he found that his horses and dumpcart were missing. He started in search of them and ran across the street and found that Carr was on the seat and when he tried to secure the cart Carr struck him over the head with the end of the whip.

How She Acquired "Feminine Charm"

A nicely-dressed woman sat beside me in the train. Everyone stared at her. I couldn't help doing the same. It was not her beauty of feature that held our eyes, nor her costume. But there was something about her face and expression—I risked it and asked: "Would you mind telling me how you keep your complexion so dazlingly pure? Don't think me impertinent, but you seem over 30, and haven't a line in your face, and your cheeks are quite peach-like. How do you do it?"

Laughing, she said: "That's easy: I remove my skin. Sounds shocking, doesn't it? But listen. Instead of cosmetics I use only pure mercuric oxide, procurable at any drugstore. I apply this nightly, like cold cream, and it absorbs the soiled, weather-beaten skin, without pain or discomfort, thus revealing the fresh, clear under-skin. Every woman has a beautiful complexion underneath, you know. Then, to ward off wrinkles, I use a face bath made by dissolving powdered saxolite (one ounce) in one-half pint with hazel—harmless, astringent, which tones the skin wonderfully. Very simple, isn't it? I thought so. I'm now trying her plan and like it immensely. —Silvius Brown in The Story Teller.

Seventeenth Annual Reunion of Alumnae of Notre Dame Academy

NOTRE DAME ACADEMY

The 17th annual reunion of the Alumnae association of Notre Dame academy will be held on Saturday, Oct. 19, and the program being arranged for the exercises is one of rare excellence. The affair will be held in the beautiful hall at the academy, when many of the members present at the festivities.

The services will open at 10 o'clock in the morning with all members attending mass, after which all will repair to the assembly hall at the academy, where a reception will be held from 11 o'clock until 12 o'clock. A business session will be held from 12 until 1:30, and then all will assemble around the festive board to enjoy the banquet. Following the latter feature there will be a social hour, and the officers of the association will be in attendance at the reunion.

The officers of the alumnae are busily engaged in sending out invitations to the members of the association, and the latter will make reply, inasmuch as the officers are desirous of knowing the number to be present.

The alumnae is one of the great features attached to the popular academy, and numbers among its members many out-of-town people, who it is expected will be present at the reunion. The academy is in charge of the Sisters of the Notre Dame, and the good women have endeavored themselves to all who pursued their studies at the well known institution. Some of the sisters, who taught at the academy, when many of the members of the association were pupils, have since passed away, while more have been transferred to other cities. Those who have departed will be remembered in the prayers of the members, while many located in other fields, will be among those in attendance at the reunion.

The officers of the alumnae are busily engaged in sending out invitations to the members of the association, and the latter will make reply, inasmuch as the officers are desirous of knowing the number to be present.

OVATION FOR W. H. K. REDMOND

When He Arrived in Toronto—
Presented Address From the
Friends of Home Rule

TORONTO, Oct. 8.—William H. K. Redmond, M. P., the delegate of the Irish parliamentary party, received a great ovation here Saturday evening when he arrived on the International Limited train from Montreal, where he had spoken Friday night on his way to Chicago. The train made a 10-minute stop here, and during that time Mr. Redmond was presented an address from the United Irish League of Toronto and other friends of home rule by P. P. Cronin, president of the local branch.

The address reaffirmed Canadian support of home rule and expressed regret that a section of the Ulster Protestants had allowed themselves to be used for the designs of party politicians.

A substantial subscription to the parliamentary fund was made, it being remarkable for the large number of Protestant citizens contributing and signing the address. These included Senator Robert Jaffray and Hon. S. J. Blake, the aged brother of the late Edward Blake, M. P., for many years a member of the Irish parliamentary party. Mr. Blake, speaking as a Protestant, called upon his fellow citizens to support Mr. Redmond in his work for Ireland. He declared his conviction that home rule would bring mutual blessings to Protestants and Catholics in Ireland, and peace and prosperity to both. He hoped not alone to see home rule, but to see Protestants and Catholics working unitedly and Ulster as in the other provinces for the advancement of their country. Mr. Blake had special emphasis on the beneficial influence the passing of home rule would have throughout the British empire.

Mr. Redmond, in an eloquent reply, declared that the Ulster Protestants would quickly disappear with the satisfactory working of home rule, and that the Irish people throughout the British empire would be satisfied with the proposed settlement as embodied in the home rule bill as he had likewise found Canadians to be.

The passage of the home rule bill, Mr. Redmond said, is certain. He expressed regret that through the speaking engagements of the week he was prevented from giving personal expression to the Blake family in Toronto of the feeling of respect and love with which the Irish parliamentary party and the Irish people hold the name of the late Edward Blake.

As Mr. Redmond's train pulled out for Chicago, he was given three hearty cheers, and a call for cheers for his distinguished brother, the Irish national leader, also met with a splendid response.

THE TAFT SUPPORTERS MAN BURNED TO DEATH

To Fight Roosevelt in Maine Campaign

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 8.—It is admitted now by all factions of the republican party that Col. Roosevelt and his friends are not to have Maine all to themselves.

Up to the meeting of the republican committee at Augusta the progressive speakers had made no reference to Col. Frederick Hale, Maine member of the republican national committee, but they are now insisting that he should have resigned from the national committee after the organization of the progressive party. They claim he was chosen a member of the national committee as a progressive.

Col. Hale has a more than wide reputation as an organizer and it is admitted that, acting with Hon. Warren C. Whitcomb, chairman of the republican state committee, he will be able to make a strong fight in Maine. The republicans are again coming into the open and there has been more talk on the streets in the last few days than since the campaign first opened.

On their part the progressives are thoroughly aroused. They did not believe before the meeting at Augusta that the Taft men would try to make any sort of a campaign against Col. Roosevelt, but they are now insisting that he should have resigned from the national committee after the organization of the progressive party.

NEW WORLD'S RECORD

Sotemia Won $15,000
Kentucky Event

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 8.—Sotemia won the four-mile $15,000 Kentucky endurance race at Churchill Downs yesterday afternoon in 10:19 4-5s, establishing a new world's record. Col. Holloway was second and Azio third.

In 1911 The Messenger Boy went the distance in 7:11 1-5.

The other four starters were strung out with Sotemia, which was last, half a mile from the wire when Sotemia finished.

At the end of the first mile Manager Mack led by seven lengths with Col. Holloway second and Sotemia third, 10 lengths behind the leader. Loftus, on Manager Mack, apparently was trying to restrain his mount, but at the end of the second mile Manager Mack had increased his lead to 20 lengths and Sotemia had moved into second place.

Jacked Martin on Sotemia then began his race and at the end of the third mile Manager Mack led by only the first turn on the last mile and drew away steadily until at the finish, she was 15 lengths ahead of Col. Holloway, which was 20 lengths ahead of Azio.

Beside the winner's share of the $15,000 purse, amounting to about $10,000, a gold cup was presented to a representative of Mrs. L. A. Livingston, owner of the mare.

The winner carried 115 pounds, top weight except for State Charter, which had 122 up. The latter was favorite and laid in the rack until the last mile and when called upon to challenge was unequal to the task. The price on the winner in the pari-mutuels was $16.20 for $2.

Education Bureau
Of the Federal Government Is Anxious to Secure Education Specialists
For Advancement of Rural Education

The United States bureau of education has several responsible positions open for high-class educators, according to a recent announcement of the civil service commission. The positions are: Specialist in rural education at a salary of $3000, and a collector and compiler of statistics at $2500.

The man who fills the first-named position will have to possess a thorough knowledge of rural conditions. He must be a graduate of a college or university of recognized standing; he must have studied the theory of education for at least one year or taught the theory of education in a normal school or college for at least one year; and he must have at least three years' practical experience in educational work as superintendent, supervisor or teacher. It is also suggested that experience as a public speaker is desirable, since the specialist will travel a considerable part of his time in the interest of rural education. Above all he must be a firm believer in the possibilities of country life, and he must be an enthusiast on the betterment of rural schools. The man who fills this position will be an important factor in the vigorous campaign that the commissioner of education is waging for the advancement of rural education.

The collector and compiler of statistics will be chief of the division of school administration in the bureau of education at Washington. He will be expected to keep in close touch with school superintendents throughout the country, concerning himself particularly with school systems in cities of 25,000 population or less. Besides the usual high scholastic attainments the candidate must have had at least three years' experience as superintendent of city schools.

The examination for specialist in rural education will be held October 12, that for collector and compiler of statistics October 26. Candidates will not be required to appear at any place for examination.

OLD PARROT
Owned By Mr. and Mrs. William Larchelle of Westford Street Has Passed Away

Mr. and Mrs. William Larchelle of Westford street deeply feel the loss of their parrot which died a few days ago after living over 60 years. This parrot, which was famous because of the fact that it could speak both French and English, had been in the Larchelle family for only 60 years, it being at first the property of the late Dr. Pierre Larchelle, seventeen years ago, at the time of the doctor's death, his son, William, took the bird to his home and has kept it ever since.

"Polly," which was the bird's name, won fame in this city as a linguist, a singer and dancer. It was purchased by Dr. Larchelle some 60 years ago, when the doctor conducted a pharmacy in Merrimack street. Legend has it that the bird was an English one. For the past few years there have been many inquiries about the bird and its owner, but it was not until 25 years or more ago and who still remembered the bird's name.

"Polly" was about the size of a small dog and was very friendly and easily more particular about its food than many people. It was very fond of bread and butter, and would keep up its cry when fresh water was given him in its special cup, he would be using his beak splash it all over his face and thus take great pleasure in soaping himself. He would whistle an air of his song and parake of his partner's meal.

The parrot, which in the summer of 1905 was placed on the window sill of the Westford street side of the house, would take great pleasure in soaping himself with his sharp beak, and when the ear was brought to stop he would launch outright. He was the conductor and matron "wise" to him and when they heard a sharp whistle they turned around and made sure that it was not "Polly" who could hear before they stopped the car.

MAN NEARLY DIED
Didn't Change Breathing Tube and Man Came Near Losing His Life

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—Peter Caldwell of Malden nearly died yesterday because he forgot to change his breathing apparatus on time. The air that flows through a silver tube, ever since he was injured in a cave-in.

Once a year, acting under orders from the surgeons, this tube had been replaced by a new one, but this year Caldwell thought the old one was working well enough to keep him this side of the Jordan for a while longer and so he did not bother to have it changed.

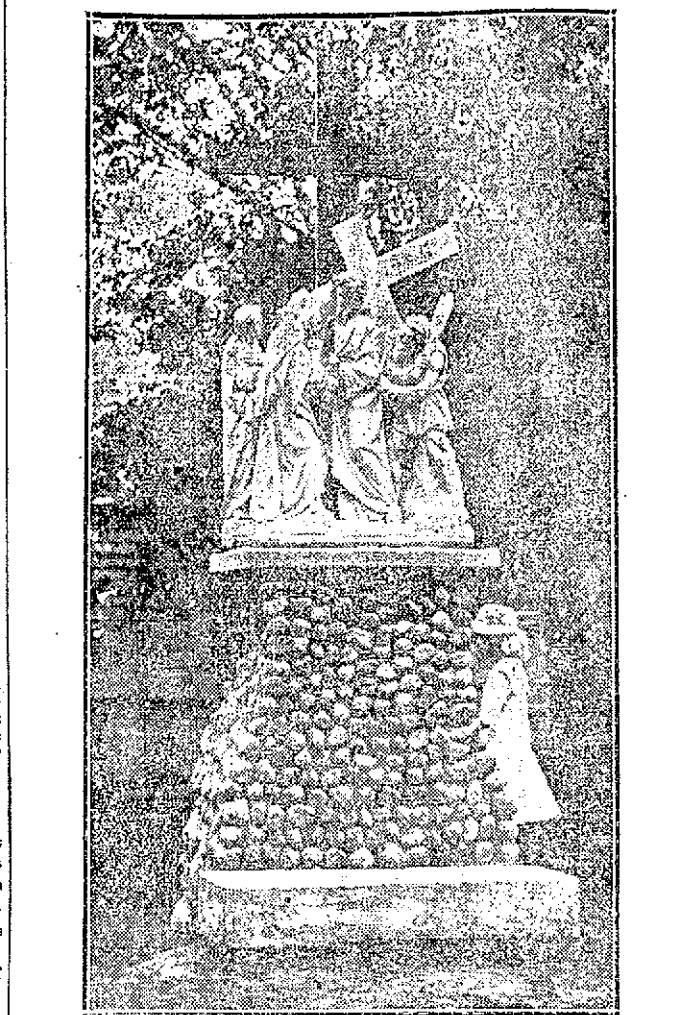

Yesterday at his home, 71 Charles street, his trouble began. An ambulance was summoned and he was rushed to the hospital, gasping through the stuffy up pipe for breath.

Finally a new tube of the right dimensions was secured and inserted, and now he is all right again. Then, after Caldwell says he will be prompt about his annual change of breathing pipes.

Peoria, Ill.—"I wish to let every one know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. For twenty years I suffered. The doctor said I had a tumor and the only remedy was the surgeon's knife. My mother bought me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am a well and healthy woman. For months I suffered from inflammation, and your Sensitive Wash relieved me. I am glad to tell anyone what your medicines have done for me. You can use my testimonial in any way you wish, and I will be glad to answer letters."—Mrs. CHRISTINA REED, 105 Mead St., Peoria, Ill.

Mrs. Lynch Also Avoided Operation.
Jessup, Pa.—"After the birth of my fourth child, I had severe organic inflammation. I would have such terrible pains that it did not seem as though I could stand it. This kept up for three long months, until two doctors decided that an operation was needed. Then one of my friends recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and after taking it for two months I was a well woman."—Mrs. JOSEPH A. LYNCH, Jessup, Pa.

Women who suffer from female ills should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, one of the most successful remedies the world has ever known, before submitting to a surgical operation.

New Stations of the Cross Being Placed in the French Orphanage

ONE OF THE NEW STATIONS OF THE CROSS AT THE FRENCH ORPHANAGE

Through the courtesy of four parishioners of St. Joseph's parish, stations of the cross will be erected on the grounds of the French American orphanage in Pawtucket street.

The statues which are of remarkable beauty, being the work of a great French artist, have arrived from Angers, France, but unfortunately eight of the fourteen were somewhat damaged. These, however, were repaired for the time being and it is expected an artist will be sent to fix them as new.

The statues, which are very large, are made of terra cotta and will be installed from a spot near the entrance to the grounds at Pawtucket street to the rear of the grates, where a highway is being erected. If the weather is favorable next Sunday the statues will be placed on stone pedestals which were recently built, and the stations will be blessed by the pastor of the parish, Rev. Henri Watelin, O. M. I.

MAN SUES FOR $15,000
For Loss of an Eye by His Son

WORCESTER, Oct. 8.—Denial that he has a vicious and dangerous rooster, or has possessed one at any time, that would peck out the eyes of boy or man, was entered by Valentine Draniewicz in the superior court yesterday.

The denial came in answer to suits brought by Alexander Kahanofsky for $15,000 for the loss of an eye by Stephen Kahanofsky, son of the plaintiff, following the removal of it at the City hospital later. The two families live in adjoining yards in this city.

Never before has a rooster's been the cause of legal action, court officials say, in Worcester county.

Two Rescued
Drowning Men Were Saved By a Party of Campers After Their Boat Had Upset

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—Two men narrowly escaped drowning off Apple Island just on the edge of the channel before 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon when their boat was tipped over as one of them was attempting to pull up the anchor.

They were rescued by a party of Boston men who camped on the island, and after being brought to a Winthrop yacht club they refused to tell their names to their rescuers. One of the men was pulled into the motor launch after he had sunk once and the other was fished out with a boathook.

The men had been smelt fishing and were about to return after their day's catch, and according to their rescuers caught the rope on his rubber boots. He lost his balance and fell headlong into the water, tipping upside down, catching the other man under it.

The rescuers, James Lyons of 161 City street, Cambridge; Michael Welsh of 69 Bunker Hill street, Charlestown; Edward Brennan of 119 Mountford street, Joseph Dixon of 60 Bunker Hill street; and James P. Connelly of 19 Mount Vernon street, Charlestown.

HEADACHY, CONSTIPATED, BILIOUS,
TAKE DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

Removes scum from tongue, sweetens a sour, gassy, bilious stomach, cleanses your liver and 30 feet of bowels

If headachy, bilious, dizzy, tongue coated, stomach sour and full of gas, you feel undigested food and feel sick and miserable it means that your liver is choked with sour bile and your thirty feet of bowels are clogged with effete waste matter not properly carried off. Constipation is worse than most folks believe. It means that this waste matter in the thirty feet of bowels decays into poisons, gases and acids and that these poisons are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

Most people dread physic. They think of castor oil, salts and cathartic pills. They shrink from the after effects—so they postpone the dose until they get sick; then they do this liver and bowel cleansing in a heroic way—they have a bowel washday. That is wrong. If you will take a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs tonight, you will never realize you have taken anything until morning, when all the poisonous matter, sour bile and clogged-up waste will be moved on and out of your system, thoroughly but gently—no griping—no nausea—no weakness. Taking Syrup of Figs is a real pleasure. Don't think you are dragging yourself; it is composed entirely of delicious figs, senna and aromatics, and constant use can not cause injury.

Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," and look for the name, California Fig Syrup Company, on the label. This is the genuine—old reliable. Any other Fig Syrup offered as good should be refused with contempt. Don't be imposed upon.

ARE YOU PREJUDICED
AGAINST ADVERTISING?

Most successful business men of today recognize that advertising is a necessity, and when well authenticated facts are set forth in a dignified manner regarding an article they know that the sensible and fair-minded public will respond in a generous way.

The "ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT" is the logical outcome of the practice and experience of a New York physician, covering many years of trial and experiment. So successful was he with this treatment, in his own practice and also in the practice of some of his professional friends, he established a laboratory for the wholesale preparation of this remedy with a view of introducing it to the afflicted public.

To accomplish this purpose, paid-for advertising was necessary—as it could not be expected that publishers would exploit a business proposition without compensation—no matter how beneficial the exploited article might be to the public. See advertisements of the "ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT" in Lowell and other papers.

There is one point we desire to impress on the mind of every reader, and that is the absolute sincerity and truthfulness of every statement made by us to the public, by means of advertising. We believe the "ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT" is safe and practical; that it will soon be used in hospitals throughout the country and will be prescribed by many good physicians and used in their practice.

The "ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT" is for sale at 15 drug stores in the city of Lowell alone. Every druggist has a supply of booklets on his counter for free distribution. The booklet is a very well written treatise on Hemorrhoids.

If interested, send to your nearest druggist for a booklet, or write direct to the English Pharmaceutical Laboratories, Inc., 1521 Broadway, New York, and they will send you one. If you are a subscriber it will interest you and perhaps you may later find that it was "worth its weight in gold" to you. ASK YOUR DRUGGIST! ASK YOUR DOCTOR!

GOULD PAYS THE DUTY CHILDREN WERE RESCUED
And Will Appeal to From Burning Building
the Court in Springfield

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Frank J. Gould yesterday obtained release of all the $100,000 worth of baggage which the customs authorities seized when he and Mrs. Gould and her sisters arrived last Friday from their home in Paris. Under protest Mr. Gould paid $2841 on the dutiable articles, but the greater part of the valuable jewelry was shown to have been of American purchase or to have been assessed before by the customs authorities.

Mr. Gould will carry to the courts his fight against paying any duty at all, declaring that he is now exempt as a non-resident and that he intended only to pay a visit to this country.

MAN OVERCOME
He Was Prostrated By Heat Yesterday in Boston With the Mercury at 86

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—Yesterday's maximum temperature of 86 was the highest temperature but one in October for 40 years, and very likely the only heat prostration in the same month during that long period. John Dolan, 40 years old, of 48 West 4th street, South Boston, succumbed on Washington avenue in that section about 3 p. m., the hottest time of the day, and was sent to General Hospital.

The fire burned the entire upper floor of the building and water damaged much of the tenements underneath. Mr. and Mrs. Finkelhoff escaped without any injury.

FIRE STATION
At Revere Burned and it Probably Will Not Be Rebuilt as New Fire House is Nearly Completed

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—Revere's central fire station was swept by fire early last evening before the entire apparatus of the town, summoned by two alarms, checked the flames. The loss was about $1500.

Last night the apparatus usually housed in the central fire station, a ladder truck, a combination wagon and a runabout for the chief, was temporarily housed at the police station and the firemen bunked with the police.

The building will probably not be repaired for use as a fire station again, as the new central fire station is within a month of completion. The new building is being put up on the site formerly occupied by that burned yesterday.

How yesterday's fire started is not known. The apparatus was out on a call to extinguish a grass fire, and the only member of the department in the station was Albert Marston, a driver of chemical 1. He was in the sleeping quarters on the ground floor at 6:20 p. m. when an excited man rushed in and announced to him that the rear of the fire station was all afire.

Marston turned in an alarm. The second followed quickly. The station is in a thickly built district and there was great danger that the flames would spread. The wind was brisk and gusty, adding to the danger.

CHARLES SUMNER BIRD SPOKE

CHARLES SUMNER BIRD
Candidate for GovernorWILLIAM N. OSGOOD
Candidate for CongressAt a Rally of the Progressives
Held in Mathew Hall Last Evening

The progressives held a rally in Mathew hall, Dutton street, last night and although the attendance was not very large there was considerable enthusiasm and when it was over the name of Roosevelt.

Charles Sumner Bird, candidate for governor on the progressive ticket, was the principal speaker and he made quite a hit. He is a little man, fifty-six years old and without an ounce of seems strange that the bosses of the parties, republican and democrat, saw it to trample upon the wishes of the people.

Glad of Bosses' Action

Arthur D. Hill was introduced and he allowed, right off the bat, it was a pretty good thing that the bosses acted as they did in Chicago, for by their action they brought to a definite head a movement that had long been under way.

"The old party names," he said, "have ceased to mean anything or to stand for anything. You can't tell anything about a man's political ideas these days by calling him a republican or democrat."

"I was content to go to Chicago as a republican and wait for the split to come in the hope that we could throw the other fellow out of the window but we got thrown out and I don't care. The split has come and we have been given a party that means something. The speaker scored the platforms of the republican and democratic parties. "These platforms," he said, "were so constructed that after your disappointment came at the non-fulfillment of promises the politician could turn around and tell you that you were off on your interpretation of the platform. Now this is not so with the platform of the progressive party. It was written in a back room by scheming politicians and it isn't filled with doubtful phrases. It was written by people who had their whole heart and soul in their work."

"I don't mean to play the sanctimonious hypocrite and say that there are no good men in the republican or democratic parties. We haven't corralled all the virtue in the country but we have started fair and we have no entangling alliances."

The speaker then referred to the state ticket paying special attention to Mr. Bird. He said that Mr. Bird is a business man in Walpole and has an honorable business record. He runs a mill and has never had a strike.

He has devoted his sagacity not entirely to the making of a fortune but to give the laboring man his rights. You have a man whose progressiveness begins at home, a man who knows the working people of this country because he has worked with them and lived with them.

"The rest of our ticket are men of the same kind," and at this point the speaker referred to "Honest Dan" Cosgrove.

"It's a good thing," he said, "to get away from politicians and get real honest, honorable and unselfish men. You all the vigor of youth and all that is required to make it a permanent party. Our party is blessed with having a great leader, a man who not only commands the confidence of the common people but a man who has also the confidence of the leading men of the country. This talk about the progressive party being a one man party is absurd."

Given Hearty Reception

Mr. Bird was given a hearty reception. In part, he said:

"We have come to stay, because we have our cause on righteousness. The republican party and Taft are dead beyond hope of resurrection. All the great west is aflame in our cause and our numbers are being added to constantly."

"You may not know so much about this country as I do, but I know the time will come when the state will print a paper so that the people may get the truth. I have nothing to say against the reporters, for they are mostly with us—their employers are not."

"As to the democratic party, let me say that you have had one experience which you have not forgotten. You will have it again if you elect a democratic party. Wilson can do nothing against his party machine. Murphy was the handy man for Ryan at Baltimore, and his type prevailed in the Chicago convention of the republican party. Mr. Wilson is a man of estimation, but he is a school teacher, he lacks experience, and the democratic party guided by men like Mr. Murphy would find him susceptible to their wiles."

"The democratic party devotes some time to conservation of forests, mineral fields, etc., but neglects the more important question of conservation of human rights. Wilson deplores the minimum wage proposition of the progressives which insures the worker living wage. The minimum wage for the women guarantees the women of America a chance to live decently and honorably. In this state there are many women who are getting less than $1 a week. Can she live decently and honorably at that wage? We want to put the woman above the danger line. No civilization can be what it ought to be if girls at the age of 14 are obliged to work in the factories."

"We are pledged to eliminate one day in seven for rest for the workingman. Child labor is the subject of much attention on the part of the progressives, and the progressives platform is positive against the employment of child labor."

"In 75 per cent. of the paper mills the work is divided into shifts, one working 11 hours and the other working 12 hours. I know something about this business, for I am in it myself. I have endeavored to secure legislation against the intolerable schedule, and I have found the republican and democratic parties absolutely unsympathetic. Over 10 years ago voluntarily, the Bird mills at Walpole broke away from the old schedule and established three shifts, of eight hours each, with no reduction of pay."

"The progressive platform is the best for the workingman ever devised. The democratic platform lacks the consideration to which the laboring man is entitled. The republican party you don't expect anything from anyway."

"I ask you to consider the men who are in the progressive party: Johnson, Stubbs, McGovern, Churchill, Sprague and Roosevelt. Can you find such men in any other party?"

In all my speeches I never fail to emphasize the work of our great leader, Theodore Roosevelt. There is no man in history who has accomplished more than he, who came to our cause at a time when it might have been considered his own comfort by remaining at home. He and the party have been qualified and have been called all kinds of things by the professional politicians. Taft has called the progressive a "crazy quilt," is to him. He has never been close enough to the people to understand them and their needs."

Do you remember the coal strike a few years ago when the coal barons said they were going to run the situation? Against the wishes of the barons and despite the money interests, Roosevelt went to the front and insisted that the differences be adjusted and the coal famine removed."

"As regards the Panama canal, do you suppose if Taft had been present at Washington when Roosevelt said that the canal would be nearing completion? It wouldn't even be under

"I am glad that the last speaker said that ours is the party that has the real enthusiasm. It will not be before the halls of this city will not be large enough to hold the people who will come to hear the speakers of the progressive party."

"You cannot make the republican party a progressive party and you cannot make the democratic party a progressive party."

"You cannot change either of the two other parties into a progressive party, that is place them under the control of the rule of the rank and file of these two parties. You must first change the rules governing their national committees, which constitute the backbone of these parties. You cannot change them in four years, because the members are already chosen. Their terms of office do not expire until the end of the next national conventions. They control the next national conventions of these parties."

"You never can change the rule of the national committee of the republican party or the rule of the national committee of the democratic party."

Mr. Bird spoke at length on a number of candidates and he devoted special attention to "Honest Dan" Cosgrove of Lowell. "There's a man who has been well named, 'Honest Dan,'" he said, "and I am glad to sound his praises as a candidate for lieutenant governor. 'Dan' Cosgrove is the type I like. He is a man possessed of a big heart, a man who believes in the golden rule in his dealings with his fellowmen. 'Dan' Cosgrove is striving to do for humanity that which every progressive must do, and he merits the heartiest support that his city and his state can give him."

NEWTON MAN

Was Buried on the Day Which He Was to Have Been Wedded—Burial Took Place at Newton Cemetery

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—Ewart Charlton Caldwell, who was to have wedded Miss Louise Emerson in the Channing Unitarian church at Newton last night, was buried in the Newton cemetery yesterday, following services held at the Congregational church at Newtonville.

While the church was thronged with friends, Miss Emerson was prostrated at her home on Hovey street, Newton. The casket was covered with countless offerings of flowers and chief among these was a spray of bride roses, a pathetic tribute from the heart-broken girl.

The gathering that filled the church included many of his fellow members of the class of 1907, Newton high school, as well as a number of the instructors of the school, where he had been a favorite. Rev. Jay T. Stocking.

AMERICAN LABOR THE CHEAPEST

Gov. Wilson Says That He Can Prove Statement Made at Norton, Kansas

NORTON, Kan., Oct. 8.—That the "very few men who have been most successful in building up the trusts are also the very men who have been most successful in preventing the organization of labor" was the contention of Governor Woodrow Wilson in an address here today devoted largely to what he characterized as "the pervasive power of the great interests which now dominate our development."

"Don't you know," he asked, "that one of the objects of their combination is to control the labor market? And do you imagine that they have ever set deliberate plans for giving the workingman anything comparable in the way of wages to the proportion of the profits which they themselves pocket? They do not have to give the laboring man any more than he can get in the competition of the market. And they do not give him any more. As a matter of fact, some of the most highly productive industries in this country pay very much lower wages than the unprotected industries. And some of the most highly protected industries pay wages that are below the living scale, at the same time that the prices they are making are so great that they can build new factories out of their surplus every second year. It is one of the grandest pieces of bluff and humbug that has ever been known in the history of political deception."

"I want to widen the market for American labor. I want to see conditions exist in which men will compete for American labor. I want again to see a time come when we shall realize that the highest priced labor in the world is the cheapest labor in the world, that what is produced by brains and intelligence and skillful touch is a great deal cheaper than what is produced by stupidity and dullness and the whip of the master."

Ice Boom Installed at the Gate House in Dutton Street

NEW ICE BOOM IN CANAL IN FRONT OF NEW Y. M. C. A. BUILDING

There's an iron fender in the canal near the brick gate house in Merrimack and Dutton streets and opposite the new Y. M. C. A. building. This fender has been the cause of considerable speculation on the part of the uninitiated and The Sun has received telephone queries at this office relative to it. Some call it a break-water, others a gate and it has been referred to as a boom. As a matter of fact it is an ice boom and is one of the several that descend and ply. I want only that consideration which is given in justice and righteousness and good faith. We are children to be taken care of, we live in a free government and can't breathe anything but free air, and we want to take care of ourselves. This business of setting up individuals or parties as special providences is one of the things that is played out. So far as my pride is concerned, I would just as leave have a malevolent boss as a beneficent boss. I don't want any boss at all.

"This is a year of critical choice. After the year 1912 it may be too late to turn back. Don't deceive yourself for a moment as to the pervasive power of the great interests which now dominate our development. They are so great that it is almost an open question whether the government of the United States can dominate them or not. Go one step further, make her organized power permanent, and it may be too late to turn back."

BILLERICA

Work on the new Fordway bridge in Billerica is progressing rapidly. The favorable weather of the past month being responsible in no small measure for the remarkable progress made. The job was started about six weeks ago, and the contractors, the Chas. R. Gaw company, are confident that the new structure will be completed by December 1.

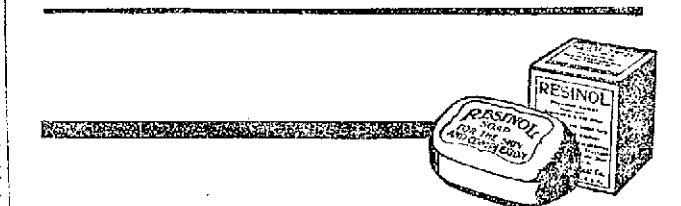

Up to last week it was estimated that labor and materials to the extent of $11,000 had been provided. The total cost of the bridge will be $23,500.

An open meeting of Talbot lodge, New England Order of Protection, was held Friday evening in F. O. O. F. hall at Billerica Centre, with a large attendance of the fraternity of this and other towns and also many non-members of the order.

The Father Matthew T. A. society held a special meeting Sunday morning in Matthew hall and discussed plans for the 25th anniversary of the organization, which will be observed this fall. The following committee was named to have charge of the event: President William S. Taylor, Charles Hayes, James Bradley, Edward R. Costello, Thomas P. Sheridan, William Costello, Charles E. Philbrother, Bartholomew Hayes, J. Fred Beardon, Richard Condon, Lewis Mahoney, George Ennon, James Hand, John Hughes, Thomas Mackie, John Trator, James White, Charles T. Cowdrey, John S. Welch, Joseph O'Brien and J. Fred Gammon.

Amateur Baseball

The Tiger A. C. of North Billerica closed their season on Saturday afternoon, defeating the Dodgers by the score of 11 to 8. By winning this game, they claim they have won the championship of the city and suburbs. The Tiger A. C. played 27 games this season, out of which they won 21.

"Red blotches all over face itched so I could not sleep"

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 28, 1912.—"About six months ago red blotches appeared all over my face and body, which itched so I could not sleep. The trouble first began on my face, and then on my arms, and on parts of my body. It was very itchy, and burning, especially at night. I tried many soaps and medicines to clear my blood, but they only drove the sores from one place to another. I was ashamed to go out in the street. I saw an advertisement for Resinol Soap and Ointment, and sent for a sample. I used them and they helped me enough to assure me they would cure me, so I bought some Resinol Soap and Ointment, and in a short time my face and body were again clear and cured." (Signed) Mrs. Mary Case, 104 E. 108th St., New York City, N. Y.

Doctor said to use Resinol

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 3, 1912.—"I had a terrible pimple rash break out on my face, and very sore and itchy and awful in appearance. My doctor said to use Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment, which I did, and with more than success. The results were wonderful, and I was completely cured in three weeks." (Signed) Mrs. C. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—Jack Coombs, pitcher for the Philadelphia American league team, was knocked unconscious by a wild pitch of Earl Moore, pitcher for the National league team in the sixth inning of the opening game of the inter-league championship of the city yesterday at Shibe park. Mrs. Tacy Held in $300

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—Charged with the kidnapping of 3-year-old Louis Finkel of 16 Barton court, West End, on Friday, Mrs. May Tacy, 21 years old, of Roxbury, appeared before Judge Bolster in the second session of the municipal criminal court yesterday and was held in $300 for the superior court.

Six witnesses were sworn for the prosecution, but only Mrs. Bessie Finkel, mother of the boy, and Special Officer Norman Ramsey of the Joy street police station testified at the hearing.

The mother, through an interpreter, testified that two older children took little Louis to the Charles river playground on Friday morning and that about 10 o'clock a little boy and girl came back to tell her that a strange woman wanted to take Louis to a moving picture show. Upon hearing this, Mrs. Finkel hastened to the playground but failed to find Louis.

Mr. Ramsey testified to finding the missing boy at the home of Mrs. Tacy on Dana street, Roxbury, and that Mrs. Tacy had at first pretended Louis was her own boy, finally admitting, however, that she had stolen him. The officer also testified that Mrs. Tacy declared she would not have taken the child if she had not been drinking, and was sorry for her action.

Mrs. Tacy was placed in charge of Miss Lee, probation officer. She will be taken to the Charles street jail unless someone furnishes surety.

N. Y. N. H. & HARTFORD ROAD

Complains of Unfair Treatment by Federal Government in Carrying the U. S. Mails

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, according to its board of directors, is a much abused corporation. The party that does most of this abusing is not the public, but the federal government, which refuses to adequately reimburse the road for the expense it is put to carrying the mails.

Annual Loss $750,000

"This," say the directors in their annual report, speaking of the underpay, "is nothing less in effect than a confiscation for economy by the post office department. It is an injustice and the annual yearly loss resulting from it is nearly $750,000." The report in part says:

"It is admitted by the officials of the post office department that our annual loss is nearly $400,000, but this figure omits a charge to which the railroad feels it is entitled for the use of the property employed in carrying the mails. Vigorous protest has been made against this injustice, but the department claims that it is powerless to change conditions without remedial legislation by congress."

President Melien disputes the statements of those who have questioned the right of the railroad to buy new interests, claiming that it is by means of the subsidiary lines that the New Haven makes its large earnings.

"The prospects of the Boston and Maine, too, come in for a little roasting, and the report says that, granting the patience and co-operation of the public and the government, the road will be able in two years to handle the traffic in the territory in control, but hints that being forced to pay higher wages will offset any advantage gained."

Hops For the B. & M.

"The expectation of the Boston and Maine being able to meet its obligations without aid from this road," says the report, "may not be realized if the road, in common with other eastern railroads, is forced to yield to the existing demands of labor for advances in wages."

"The rehabilitation of the Boston and Maine railroad will require at least two more years time before the property can satisfactorily handle the business of the section of the country it serves."

The report also deals with the mortgage on the Boston and Providence, and the segregation of the steamship lines in which the New Haven has interest, claiming the advantages of the steps taken.

HUNTERS GO TO MAINE

To Engage in the Hunting of Big Game

Business on the Boston and Maine railroad has fallen back to its normal status after a very busy summer season. After the opening of the schools, the heavy traffic of the summer months falls off and affairs become quiet, and such is the case at the present time.

Quite a few local men are going to Maine to spend their vacations hunting big game in the forests there and these have been the travel over that line. Apparently hardly anybody from this city went to New York to take in the opening game of the world's series for travel in that direction was no greater than usual.

Authorities of the Greek colony have inquired at the station as to the cost of a special train to New York in case they wished to send their soldiers to that city to embark for the Balkan war but as yet no definite arrangements have been made for such a train.

There is a number of excursion trains running from the White Mountain and other New Hampshire points to Boston and these appear to be quite popular, particularly so among the farmers and dwellers in the smaller villages. These are run at exceedingly low rates to passengers who wish to do their fall shopping in Boston, or visit one of the large fairs, but low fares are not attractive by such means as they find they can buy what they want cheaper at home here in Lowell.

DAMAGES OF $1238.82 AWARDED

In the Case Brought by Edward Cawley Against
Wilfred Jean

In the case of Edward Cawley vs. Wilfred Jean, which opened before Judge McLaughlin at the civil session of the superior court, in this city yesterday morning, the court directed that the auditor's report which granted $1238.82 damages to the plaintiff be set aside and awarded damages amounting to $1238.82 for Mr. Cawley. The verdict covers three counts. On the first and third counts, $282.24 was awarded and on the second count, $956.58 was added, making the total $1238.82. Lawyers Cawley, who appeared for the defendant, and Jean, who appeared for the plaintiff, appeared and the case will go to the supreme court on the question of law. Lawyer John J. Devine appeared for the plaintiff. The case resulted from an alleged breach of contract, which was entered into when the defendant leased a building on Church street for carrying on a laundry business. A cross suit was entered by Mr. Jean, with Mr. Cawley as the defendant in which the plaintiff alleges conversion of personal property, by the defendant. The latter case occupied the greater part of today's session of the court. In this suit, which was also heard before an auditor some time ago, the plaintiff, Mr. Jean, was awarded damages amounting to $700, and the defendant, Mr. Cawley, was awarded $2000. The same attorneys appear in the case. The case was continued in superior court this afternoon and both lawyers completed their cases, and their summing up. The court ruled that the plaintiff could not recover for trade fixtures annexed to the defendant's machinery and real estate valued at $300 and left the question of the conversion of personal property valued at $400 to the jury. The judge's charge lasted about half an hour and the case went to the jury at 3:35 p. m.

MANY STORES TO CLOSE

Quite a General Observation of Columbus Day

The committee of the local council, Knights of Columbus, in charge of the celebration of Columbus day, Oct. 12, reports that the following firms have agreed to close their stores on the holiday: A. G. Pollard Co., Bon Marche, Gilbride department store, D. S. O'Brien Co., Merrimack Clothing Co., Macartney Apparel shop, Twentieth Century Shoe store, it is understood that others will close their stores but the committee was unable to reach them yesterday. The grocery, provision stores and barber shops have agreed to close at noon.

The school children, under the direction of F. O. Blunt, supervisor of music in the local schools, are rehearsing for their part of the observance and will sing the following patriotic selections: "America," "Star Spangled Banner," "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," and "Speed Our Republic."

The committee has asked the merchants in a general way to decorate the stores and to try to make the day's observance one to be proud of.

Mail on Columbus Day

There will be but one outside delivery of mails from the local postoffice on Saturday, Oct. 12, Columbus day, and that will be the regular first morning delivery. Mail will be distributed to the lock boxes all day and letters may be called for at the carriers' windows from 5 to 10 in the morning.

The usual fall changes in the mails are now in operation and these changes correspond exactly with the changes in the times of the trains. The Bar Harbor express and the New York train which were running during the summer have been taken off and changes in the time of mails arriving and leaving have been effected accordingly.

Boy Scouts' Field Day

The Pawtucketville Boy Scouts will hold a grand field day on Columbus day, Saturday, Oct. 12, and have invited the boy scouts from Lowell and vicinity to join them in a "rain day" in the large field at 150 Mummoth road. The festivities will open with a big parade of all the scout troops of Lowell and leaving the grounds at 1:30, they will march through the streets of Pawtucketville. This company which in this parade presents the best appearance and has the greatest number of members in line will be awarded a loving cup. A long and interesting list of sports is the program for the afternoon. There will be athletic competitions open to all those boys who attend in addition to these there will be special events for the boy scouts. The most exciting event of all will be a boys' automobile race on the asphalt road. There will be comic races of all kinds and appropriate prizes will be given the winners.

Refreshment booths will be conducted on the grounds by some of the ladies and at 5 o'clock there will be served a baked bean supper also under the direction of the ladies. The boys have planned many attractions for their midway and this will be well worth patronizing and in the evening

Biggest Fleet Assembling to be Reviewed by the President and the Naval Secretary

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Many warships have already arrived, and others will come each day this week, to be on hand for the review Oct. 14 and 15, when thousands of New Yorkers and strangers, Admiral Oysterhaus and President Taft will review the fighting val, his huge floating fortress leading the way up the harbor and then taking place at the head of the line, with the other vessels scattered along farther up the river.

THE IRISH HOME RULE BILL

Comes Up for Settlement at This Session of the British Parliament

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Parliament convened late yesterday for what has promised to be the most tempestuous session of the British lawmakers in years. Three matters of vital importance to the Irish members of the house of commons, and the 26 Irish, the government has a majority of 110, but the labor men were ready to secede at any time on slight provocation and the Irish members were only interested in keeping the administration in office until home rule should be finally assured.

Will Resist Delay

The conservatives came prepared to fight tooth and nail against all three measures. Already at the start, they had 65 pages of amendments to the home rule bill on hand, simply to delay it. The liberals will resist delay, however, by drastic application of the "guillotine" or parliamentary rules which limit the time for debate, and the "hansard" whereby the majority disregards frivolous amendments.

As to the Welsh bill, the church of England is reckoned politically as a part of the aristocracy's "machine" for retention of power, and the proposal to rob the church of its official standing in Wales is as offensive to the British "ruling class" there as home rule is to the so-called "ruling class" in Ireland. The election reform bill seeks to abolish the system by which the aristocracy has multiplied the number of its own voters about 10 times and deprived the working classes of approximately 1,000,000 votes, as charged by the advocates of the changes now proposed.

The liberal tenure of office, how-

Some Sensible Advice on Womanly Beauty

Healthy hair adds much to womanly beauty, and it is such an easy matter to have a glorious mass of lovely hair that the dull, "stringy" kind is inexcusable. A teaspoonful catnip dissolved in a cup hot water removes every particle of dust, dandruff and excess oil, and after rinsing, the hair dries quickly and evenly. Catnip shampoos promote hair-health and insure a wealth of lustrous, even-colored, young-looking hair. Remove tan and freckles and keep the skin clear, velvety and attractive for the social season by daily applying a lotion prepared by stirring two teaspoonfuls of glycerine into one-half pint witch hazel (or hot water) then adding four ounces spumax. This lotion is used instead of face powder and though invisible, tones the skin to a beautiful, natural color while curing tan, sunburn, freckles, surface blemishes and the oily, shiny appearance of the face, so often due to perspiration.

SAFE WAS BLOWN OPEN

BROCKTON, Oct. 5.—After trying to get married in three states Miss Laura Bonney, 15, and Frank Leonard, 19, are to return to this city within a few days and be married. For two months their various plans for the marriage have been interrupted, but this time success seems assured, as the consent of their parents has been secured. Miss Bonney is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bonney of 106 Field street and Leonard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Leonard of Ayon. Mrs. Leonard visited city hall yesterday afternoon and made arrangements for the marriage license and as soon as the matter has been adjusted plans for the wedding will be made.

LOCAL RESERVIST GREEKS CALLED

Mr. George Couzoules, one of the general directors of the Pan-Hellenic union in this country, received a message this morning from the president-general of the union, who is in New York, stating that 300 local Greeks of the reservist class were wanted to sail on the ship "Madonna" of the Fabre line, which sailed from New York for Providence yesterday. The ship is scheduled to leave Providence this evening for Greece, but may be held till tomorrow. The message also states that the union had retained 300 berths and 1.5 more for Lowell residents and that others going will have to pay their own expense.

Mr. Couzoules quickly telephoned to the president-general of the union after he received the message, asking him if possible to delay the start of the "Madonna" until tomorrow afternoon on account of the local Greeks not being prepared to leave this evening. If the delay is impossible, then the local Greeks will go to New York tomorrow night and there board a ship of the French line, but if the "Madonna" is delayed until tomorrow noon the start from this city will be tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock when the party will board a special train at the Mid-dlesex station for Providence. The first to go will be the members of the Holy regiment who number about 200. They will be headed by hot democrat, though like the Massachusetts demmies, a follower of "Old Champ" before the nominations were made. A more enthusiastic visitor than Col. Grayson never paid a tribute to poor old Lowell and speaking of it to a reporter of The Sun he said: "I was most agreeably surprised at the neatness of your city and the neighboring towns. The roads for the most part are excellent and the houses along them appear to be well kept. I was much pleased with the large number of shade trees that line your streets, forming in many cases a beautiful natural canopy overhead, while the foliage as it now appears presents a charming spectacle. In the south we see little of the beauties of autumn foliage such as you have here. Then the people of Lowell have not the reserve expected of northerners but remind one of those at home. Recently I enjoyed a trip along the north shore in an automobile and while I have been all over the country and along the Pacific coast I have never travelled over better roads nor by better kept or more prosperous looking residences, nor have I beheld more beautiful rugged scenery than that presented along your north shore."

Asked about his home city Col. Grayson's face beamed with enthusiasm and he said: "Come down to Savannah some time and see us. There is no 'spirit' of God there. He dwells there in person. We have a population of about 30,000, of whom 45,000 are whites. Of the colored population only about 700 are eligible to vote and hence the whites are always in control politically. Our government consists of a mayor and 12 aldermen elected at large. The board is then divided into committees of three for the running of the departments, the mayor being a member ex-officio of all committees. It is a commission form of government in a way but not such as yours. There is at present no organization for a commission form similar to yours but we are going along so well under our present form and there is little or no likelihood of a change being made. Savannah is a centre for lumber, cotton and naval stores and barring New York we outlive any city on the Atlantic coast in exports. We have comparatively little poverty in the city and the city assists in the maintenance of private charities such as orphan asylums and old people's homes that are conducted by private charity. We do not begin to have the demand made upon our charity department that you have in Lowell. Some people appear to have the impression that our street and sewer work is all done by the colored people but such is not the case, for the white people do the work."

Upon learning that Lowell has a company of the Ninth Mass. Infantry, Col. Grayson said: "The state of Massachusetts should be proud of the Ninth regiment. It is a fine body of men and a most important regiment. I was with them at Manila and saw them during the maneuvers there. Col. Grayson was formerly colonel of the First Georgia regiment and commanded the regiment during the Spanish-American war when it did service in Cuba. "The Spanish-American war," said Col. Grayson, "did more to cement the bond of friendship now existing between north and south than anything that has happened since the close of the Civil war. During the campaign the First Georgia and First Michigan regiments were together throughout and were known as the 'twinned' regiments. The best of feeling prevailed among the men and they parted as brothers."

Before returning to Savannah Col. Grayson and Mr. Morris will take in the world's series.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

A GREAT INCREASE IN SALES

Reported by Automobile Dealers
in This City—The New 1913
Models Arrive

The arrival of many new 1913 models in this city has caused an increase in the sales of automobiles over the previous week and yet there are scores of people who intend to buy, but want to wait until all of the various models have been inspected.

The weather of the past week has been productive of a big outpouring of automobiles who have chosen four tours. Sunday was an ideal day for riding and hundreds of people poured into the country or along the beaches on the northern shore.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Putnam of Stevens street have returned home after enjoying an automobile trip through the Berkshires.

Mrs. Andrew C. Wheelock is one of the latest enthusiasts, she having recently purchased a touring car.

The many friends and admirers of Ralph De Palma, considered the best racing driver in the country today, were joined to him in his accident during the running of the Grand Prix race on the Watkinson track near Milwaukee, Saturday afternoon. De Palma drove one of the Fiat in the big race held over the Merrimack valley course in 1912.

George Day and Herbert Ellis, of Chelmsford have returned from a long automobile trip through the White mountains, Lake Champlain and north New Hampshire and Vermont.

Sunday was apparently Stanley day, judging from the hourly run made with these particular cars by local owners. For instance, Tom Williston, who covers the sales in this city and surrounding towns, was so elated over the beautiful sunny weather which breaking day promised that he took out the 1912 Stutz, and while before starting, he did not think of entering any great distance, when the family 1912 Stutz, and taking her proper rate of speed, he just sat at the wheel and pulled it through the country roads bedecked with their autumnal scenery, and before he turned the head of the machine homeward, he had touched the shores of York Beach, Me. After stopping for dinner and other necessities, he returned to the city, and arrived in this city in the early evening, after a most enjoyable trip, the pleasure of which had not been marred by a mishap. Other Stanley enthusiasts who made runs were E. N. Lathrop, of the city, who went to Worcester, and traversed generally its vicinity; Charles H. Lane, who made a run to Springfield, Mass., and Mr. Cousins, assistant engineer in the Lowell Electric Light company's plant in Perry street, who recently purchased a runabout.

Dr. Frederick Dunlap has purchased a model 20 Buick roadster through the agency of the Lowell Automobile Co., Martin Pitt also bought a model 20.

James M. Abbott, ice broker, with offices in Wyman's building, has purchased a model 20 Buick.

John R. Sargent, contractor, has purchased a second-hand touring car through the Geo. H. White, Inc. agency in Middlesex street.

A complete line of the 1913 models of Buicks will be on exhibition next Saturday in Rockingham Park, Salem, N. H., prior to starting and after the races.

"I consider the windshield as good a protection, if not better than any accident insurance policy you could sell me." These are the exact words of a well-to-do New Yorker, who, along with his chauffeur, had a very narrow escape from decapitation by a wire which was stretched across a country highway, at a height of about 7 feet. Of course to do a thing of this kind is a criminal offense, punishable by fine and imprisonment, but the perpetrator has never been apprehended. This should be taken as a warning by motorists who habit to equip their cars with shields. To local enthusiasts a chance is given to procure a good make of windshield at a low price for Harry Pitts of the Pitts Auto Supply in Hurd street, has come upon a job lot of windshields for which he is receiving orders.

Along with the announcement that Harry E. Grant, winner of the Vanderbilt cup, that great American automobile classic in 1909 and 1910, is to appear in the automobile race to be held at Rockingham Park on Saturday, Columbus day, comes the welcome news to the many business and personal friends of Mr. Arthur J. Cumiskey of this city, that the Stutz automobile factory, for which he is the Lowell, Lawrence and Nashua agent, has placed in his charge its entire interests at the coming automobile races at which they propose to put a most conspicuous figure. While Mr. Cumiskey is at present the agent of that well-known company in this district, the fact that he has been given complete charge of the race, caters, drivers, and in fact of every detail in connection with the company's exhibit at this important race is a genuine compliment to him and comes as the result of his success as an automobile salesman. It is unnecessary to dwell upon Mr. Cumiskey's success in the automobile business in this city for it is well known to all local auto owners. He has made good with capital and, judging from the manner in which he is going after Saturday's race, it will not be difficult if the Stutz people don't consider the success with plenty. Mr. Cumiskey states that the Stutz racing machines will be here within a few days and will practice on the boulevard course and later at the park. In addition to Harry E. Grant, Mr. Cumiskey will have another crack driver under his wing in the person of Jack LeCain, who drove the Stutz car to victory at Old Orchard last July. Grant will drive in the wire wheeled Stutz car driven by Gil Anderson in the Vanderbilt cup race at Milwaukee last Saturday which was the only American car to finish.

Mr. Cumiskey received word yesterday that the new six cylinder model of the Stutz will reach Boston today and he expects to have it here by the close of the week. The new series 12, four-cylinder cars are already on exhibition.

Speaking of the Stutz cars, Mr. Cumiskey said to the writer:

"The new series, both four and six, are beautiful. The six has a 50 horse power motor, the four a 50 horse power motor. All cars are furnished in the most luxurious manner and are bound to create a sensation when they arrive."

that could make such an instantaneous hit has proven his ability, has retained in the new series the tried and true features of the first Stutz cars, has developed in the new six the highest type of motor car comfort and refinement. No improvement, beyond an increase in power, was needed in the mechanical part of the car, so he concentrated on the body design.

"These cars are comfortable and roomy. The unsightly bulge in the body lines necessary to accommodate three passengers on the rear seat are not incorporated in the Stutz, which comes in roadster, four-passenger and six-passenger models.

"We have passed the point where it was necessary to convince people of the superiority of the Stutz. Every single Stutz owner in New England is a Stutz salesman and our willingness to furnish prospective purchasers with owners' names and addresses is a sufficient guarantee of this. Several of our past successful purchasers have brought in friends who have bought Stutz cars because of the cars' performance."

"When Harry Grant, who knows a car's qualifications and who insists on a good mount when he goes into a race, chooses the Stutz as his car at Rockingham, it is a mighty strong guarantee of the car's reliability, power, speed and consistency."

VALUABLE HORSE SHOT

It Nearly Kicked Itself
to Death

Mr. Abraham Rondeau, conerter at 496 School street, lost a valuable horse yesterday, when it had to be shot, as it was suffering from self-inflicted injuries.

The horse was in its stable in the rear of 34 Ward street yesterday, when suddenly it took a kicking fit and nearly kicked itself to death. The noise in the stable attracted considerable people to the scene, but nothing could be done to save the horse, as it was jumping and kicking so much that people dared not enter the stable.

Finally Patrolman, E. N. Breault, was called and after studying the situation thought it best to shoot the horse and one bullet did the trick. The next job was to get the horse from the barn and that was not an easy one. The animal had demolished part of the inside of the building and was wedged in a mass of debris. After considerable work, however, a gang of men tore down part of the walls and with the aid of chains and horses, the animal was pulled out of the stable.

OPENING NIGHT

Will Be Observed by the Y. M. C. I. on Thursday Evening of This Week—Preparation for Ball

On Thursday evening of this week the members of the Young Men's Catholic Institute will observe opening night and the feature of the occasion will be a boxing match between the club five and a team from Nashua.

The Y. M. C. I. boxing team this season should prove to be one of the leaders of the city for it has on its lineup some of the best local men on the mats, including the well known cracker, Kelly, Coleman and Whalen. The opening night will comprise a general good time and a musical program will be given and a smoker enjoyed. The club rooms have been extensively renovated and a sum of about $200 has been expended in perfecting and polishing the bowling alleys until now they are among the very best in Lowell.

The members of the club are already making preparations for their annual Thanksgiving ball, which will be held on Thanksgiving eve in Associate hall. This event has always enjoyed remarkable success in past years and this season's dance will be no exception.

Injuries Fatal

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 8.—Tony Scuderi, mechanic for Bruce-Brown, who was killed last week while trying out the Vanderbilt cup race course, died today from his injuries.

SELECTING THE BECKER JURY

The Second Man Chosen is Robert C. Purcell, Manufacturer of Chemicals

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—With one juror in the box the second day of the trial of Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, charged with the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was resumed before Justice Goff in the criminal branch of the supreme court today. At the close of yesterday's session Justice Goff announced that if the jurybox was not full at 5 p. m. today he probably would order night sessions.

From the trend of questions put to witnesses it is evident that the defendant and his counsel are anxious that the case be tried by a jury of native Americans, preferably married. John McIntyre, chief counsel for the defense, also prefers what he considers another qualification—blue eyes. Becker has blue-gray eyes.

Robert C. Purcell, a manufacturer of chemicals and the first salesman examined today, was selected as juror number two.

An anonymous letter threatening death was delivered to McIntyre in court this morning. The writer charged the attorneys with putting up the murder of Jack Zelig and added that if Becker was acquitted "you shall die." The lawyer was inclined to regard the communication as a hoax.

SPEEDY CARS

Entered in Races To Be Held at Rockingham Park on Columbus Day

The automobile and motorcycle racing scheduled for Rockingham Park at Salem, N. H., on Columbus day, Oct. 12th, will not be lacking in excitement judging from present indications.

J. L. Judd, of the Jackson Motor Car company has entered two of his cars in the Columbus day events. Harry Cobb, the famous Vanderbilt cup driver, who holds records for 24-hour racing at Brighton beach in the Locomotive, will drive one of the Jacksons. The other will probably be driven by Chas. Baskin, another Vanderbilt cup racer.

Professor David L. Gallin, consulting engineer of Worcester Polytechnic, has a Planders 20 for which he claims unusual speed. This car will be seen in several of the more important contests. Badger has entered his four-cylinder National, with Albert T. Hart driving.

K. F. Darling has entered his four-cylinder National, with G. C. Joseph, who made such a good showing in the Buick last June on this course. He will drive this National in the amateur events. Harry Grant will be a conspicuous figure in the big events with the Stutz car that was driven in the Vanderbilt cup race at Milwaukee. It is being specially expressed on from Milwaukee to compete at Rockingham. Jack LeCain will also drive the same car in one of the events.

FOREIGN INVASION

British Auto Manufacturers to Attempt to Compete With Americans and Drive Them From the British Market

Word has been received here that British manufacturers propose forming a twenty-five million dollar company to compete with American automobiles and drive them back from the British market.

George M. Dickson, an authority on automobiles and foreign trade, declares that such an undertaking is hopeless because he believes that the American made motor car is too widely recognized as being superior to be stopped now.

"The invasion of the American made motor car into foreign lands, especially Great Britain, was handicapped at the start by the bad taste left in the mouths of the British business men due to the inferior bicycles that America at one time unloaded upon them," says Dickson. "I do not mean that all the bicycles sent over from here were bad, but a great many were, enough to make the British shy of the motor car. But from the first day the American made motor car put its rubber shoes on British soil it has made good upon its own merits. There is absolutely not a single day of bad reputation to be lived down by the motor car."

"The American business man has a large horizon; he is out after the trade of the world at large, basing his claim upon the merits of his goods and his own enterprise. Nothing in my opinion illustrates better this 19th century business activity both in spirit and quality of production than the motor car business of America. I do not think the invasion of American made cars abroad can be stopped. I do not believe that the British manufacturing processes are as advanced as the American. I do not believe the British workmen, but the automatic machinery and systems of efficiency of American factories are far superior. The reputation of American made cars for quality is a matter of world wide knowledge and is winning for us increasing favor abroad."

FATAL BUNGLE OF N. Y. FIREMEN

There was a fire in New York city Sunday morning in which two women lost their lives, and if a similar fire occurred in Lowell and the firemen showed such stupidity and helplessness in the face of danger, we believe there would be a new chief and some new captains in a very short time. The fire was in a restaurant and the flames arose to the third floor above, there burning at the occupants. When the firemen arrived they went to the rear instead of to the front where women were suffocating with smoke. When the ladders were hoisted in front they proved to be too short and then there seemed to be a spell of stupefaction as the firemen simply stood below watching women frantically screaming for help at a third-story window. Finally a ladder was found to reach them. Two were taken out dead and two were rescued alive. With prompt response to the alarm there should have been no fatality. The lives of the two women were sacrificed by the bungling and lack of discipline among the men. Those men certainly need fire drill, and if there is any more such stupidity at fires, the men responsible should be presented with leather medals or something more serious.

TAKING THE CROSS-OVER

When an express train takes a cross-over at the rate of fifty miles an hour, it is not at all surprising that the locomotive leaps from the tracks. The surprising thing in such a case would be to find the locomotive stick to the tracks. When a train is going at high speed in a straight line the danger of taking a cross-over not in that line is so great that no experienced engineer should risk the ordeal at a speed of over fifteen miles an hour, the rate fixed by the rules of the road. But this rule was forgotten utterly at Westport, Conn., last week with the result that the Boston express for New York was wrecked, eleven killed and over twenty injured. It is another instance of the unreliability of the human factor in the problem of absolute safety. But as another accident of the same kind occurred a short time ago at that very same place, the public is wondering whether these dreadful accidents cause the company to adopt any precautions to prevent them.

LOOKING TO FINAL VICTORY

The recent convention of the United Irish league in this country was the most enthusiastic held since land league days. The friends of the movement are getting somewhat apprehensive lest the end of freedom should again be dashed from Ireland's lips and thus confirm the tradition of an evil fate pursuing the Emerald Isle and so often confirmed by events in her past history; but the men on the firing line in parliament are quite confident that home rule will be an accomplished fact in two years at the latest. The noise in the north of Ireland has only served to stir the friends of the movement to more enthusiasm in the fight for final victory.

Premier Asquith promises not to be moved from his purpose to give Ireland home rule by the head of the Ulster faction. As he says, matters would be worse if the majority in Ireland should take the law into their own hands.

GOVERNOR WILSON'S CARTOON

Governor Wilson is making the issues in this campaign thoroughly understood in his tour of the west. He has pointed out that in the past the monopolies got what they wanted through large contributions to the republican party, but now they want an industrial commission to control monopolies, knowing that with the right kind of commission which they would get from either wing of the republican party, the great combines would go on as before. Governor Wilson suggests a cartoon which in due time will be put into concrete form and published. He would have the biggest monopolies of the United States drawn up in a line and have in front of Col. Roosevelt leading them in a Hallelujah chorus. That idea will furnish one of the best cartoons of the campaign.

THE GREEK WAR CLOUD

It is probable that war will be prevented in the Balkans. Turkey has made peace with Italy in order to avoid annihilation by the allies, and she may grant some concessions in the Balkans that will prevent an outbreak.

The local Greeks apparently got worked into unnecessary excitement under the assumption that volunteers would be called for. The war department of Greece, it seems, wants only the reservists, that is those who have already served in the Greek army. Of these there are not over 500 in Lowell. It is, therefore, nonsense to look for an exodus of Greeks even if war were declared.

THE BILL MOOSE PARTY

The Bull Moose candidate for governor has been heard in Lowell, and the crowd that went to hear him did not indicate any great enthusiasm. It was really amusing if not ridiculous to hear Mr. Bird declare that both the republican and democratic parties have outlived their usefulness and that the only hope of the country today lies in the Bull Moose party which consists mainly of Col. Roosevelt. Mr. O'Good makes a good speech even in a weak cause, and his effort of last night was up to his usually high standard.

We cannot conceive of anything more contemptible or cowardly than the act of the clamorous anti-aid who runs over a man, woman or child and then dashes ahead at full speed to escape detection. If a buller overtook any such coward to cut short his speeding and rid the community of a positive source of danger, it would serve him right; but any such course is forbidden by law, even to the man left dying on the road.

Another murder in New York, and an important witness in the Rosenthal case has been shot to death. The murderer in this case has been caught and he protests that he was not hired to do the job. The man who was murdered was a noted gambler and the murderer is not much better. New York will be well rid of both, but the occurrence shows that there are yet undetected gamblers and plenty of gunmen ready to take a man off about the time he threatens to "squeal."

The adjournment of the Eitor-Giovanetti case till October 14 will give the L. W. W. leaders time to cool off. The adjournment, however, is not made out of any consideration for the outside agitators but because the first venture of talesmen was exhausted and another has to be called.

The L. W. W. need not feel the slightest alarm for the safety of Haywood, Eitor and Giovanetti. The people who oppose the lawless tendencies of the L. W. W. do not resort to violence in such cases. If Eitor be set free he will be joyfully congratulated even by those who assisted in having him arrested.

Teddy denies everything. Who thought he would do anything else?

The Paige street job will have a big ledger account.

TO BIG A LOAD

Seen and Heard

A girl who marries a man to reform him seldom has an opportunity to sit down complacently and admire her successful work.

A man has reason to think that he is making progress in business when he has a private office from which he can shout "Boy!" every little while.

No matter how tall a girl is, she doesn't generally look down on the men.

EXCUSES

He always is prompt with excuses. Whenever he's called up for blame, he marshals them up in procession.

Though some of them, maybe, are lame.

He's ready with glib explanations. To show that the fault isn't his, and he tries to persuade you it isn't.

Though you know very well that it is.

He always can find palliation. For any mistake he has made, it would be most unjust, he assures you.

If you should reproach or upbraid, he's blameless and innocent always.

His virtue is really subtle. And he frequently sidesteps a scolding, but he's sure to get fired in time!

—Sonsville Journal.

After a man has got into state prison for life, it is rather late for him to begin thinking of reform.

When other ways of entertaining a boy run out, give him something to eat.

If a man on an ocean steamer that makes four hundred miles a day walks up and down the deck two hours at the rate of three miles an hour, how many miles does he walk?

When a young man begins to think that he is a genius, it is usually all up with him.

"Could you tell us how far it is to the postoffice?" we asked of the man standing on the railway platform.

"I have no idea," he replied. "Well, in which direction is it?"

"I have not formed an opinion. Can we walk there or should we take a car?"

"I could not say."

"There is a postoffice here, is there not?"

"I would not decide that with my present information."

"But every town has a postoffice, hasn't it?"

"I have not talked with anybody on the subject."

"Is there anyone around here who can tell us?"

"I have not read any of the newspapers."

"But, man, you surely know whether or not there is a postoffice?"

"I could not give a decisive answer to that."

"But don't you live here?"

"I have never given the matter any thought."

"Where do you live?"

"I have no mental bias in the matter."

"Great guns, man! You know you're alive, don't you?"

"I should be guided entirely by the evidence."

Here a listener plucked our sleeve, smilingly. He took us to one side and said:

"You won't get anything out of him if you quiz him all day. That's Pete Hobson, who's been on so many jays pencils it has affected him."

James Rourke, road master of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railroad, bought a bunch of flowers for his wife at an Indianapolis store. On the way home to Connersville he bribed a dining car porter to lay the bunch on ice to keep them cool. When he arrived home he found business at the office that retained him for an hour and in the interval he sent a boy for another piece of ice, on which he placed the flowers. On reaching home he presented the bunch to his wife, who remarked:

"They're pretty, my dear, but they're terribly cold."

"Cold, sure," they're cold," the husband replied. "I've had 'em on ice two hours; I didn't want 'em to wilt."

"They wouldn't have wilted, for they're wax, just wax, with green wire stems," said Mrs. Rourke.

Women can always find some excuse for a man, but no matter how strong, they condemn him, because they realize how irresistible they are.

The man who tells you that he doesn't take any interest in life will jump at quickly as any other else when an automobile at his elbow goes "Honk! Honk!"

THE OBSERVER

I like to sit beside the road. A waiting fur the mail.

Each day the driver will unload his treasure, without fail.

And, be the weather dry or wet, A-standin' in the rain.

That seems each day to grow, I wish Amanda Bogg would get A letter from her beau.

I've watched her now for quite a while, Her eyes were never made for tears.

However light their mist, These ought to be the happiest years In all her birthday list.

In all her birthday list, Her feet should dance an' never set A solemn pace an' slow.

I wish Amanda Bogg would get A letter from her beau.

Milady's Toilet Table

By Mmes. D'ARLIE

"When occasion demands quick hair-dressing, nothing is finer than a dry shampoo, made by mixing four ounces of orris root with a package of ether. Sift a little over the head, brush out, and your scalp is clean and your hair beautifully lustrous, light, wavy and easy to do up."

The world never saw the equal of Mothers' Salve as a pain killer. It is easy to use, quick to act, and should be applied to stop headache, or ache in back or joints, to reduce swelling, to clear inflammation, or to relieve pain in any part of the body.

Ladies troubled with fuzzy growths are delighted to learn that delicate hair-movers hair without pain or injury. Make a paste with delicate and water, spread it on the hairs, let remain for a few minutes, then remove and wash surface.

Thin pyroxin applied to eruptions with fingertips causes them to grow thick and beautiful, and brushing will draw them into well-formed arches. Blemishes come in long and slicken if pyroxin is applied to the roots.

If your face is sunburned, spotted or mottled-looking, apply in the morning a beautiful lotion made by dissolving an original package of invigorant in a half-pint of witch hazel. This treatment replaces powder. It will keep all day, will not rub off or flow, and makes the skin soft, smooth and glowing.

THE PRIMARY TEACHERS

Supt. Molloy

The teachers of the primary grades of the local schools met in high school hall yesterday afternoon at half past four to discuss plans for the ensuing year. A great deal of interest was shown in the work and the meeting was very largely attended.

Superintendent of Schools Hugh J. Molloy presided and he addressed the gathering with regard to grade teaching. He said that the best work in teaching is done along the older lines, and that the fads and novelties which occasionally creep in are worth little as educational factors.

The two most important studies of the primary grades are arithmetic and reading, was the statement of Mr. Molloy, and the substance of his address had to do with that fact throughout. "The fads," he said, "come in by the front door at high noon, and go out at night by the back window. They form an educational bluff. The good reader, he said, are open all the written fields of study. He illustrated his words in many instances from events in his own knowledge and experience, and his words were very encouraging and instructive.

In the end Mr. Molloy suggested that a committee of five be chosen to nominate two committees of twelve members each, one of which will endeavor to promote work along the line of reading and the other to take charge of the arithmetic. This was done and the committees will begin their activities at once. All have shown a great interest and willingness in the work.

SAVED BY A REPORTER

Alderman in Danger of Being Killed

BROCKTON, Oct. 8.—The agility of George M. Gifford, a newspaperman, saved Alderman Charles R. Hillberg from possible death at city hall last evening, when the alderman attempted to leave an elevator that was stalled half way between the first and second floors.

The elevator carried Mayor Harry C. Howard and Aldermen Chas. R. Hillberg, Fred C. Crocker, Patrick P. McMahon, Chas. H. Barden and Chas. R. Hillberg.

Just as the top of the elevator stalled the second floor the car was pushed, leaving just enough room for a person to crawl through. Alderman Hillberg and some of the city hall officials passed peanuts through the elevator grating to the men caged inside and otherwise taunted them to such an extent that Alderman Hillberg decided to climb to the floor above.

He was half way out of the elevator when the car was started from below by City Assessor Seth L. French. Had the car dropped instead of going upward, Alderman Hillberg would undoubtedly have been cut in two. As it was he could not have reached the floor in safety without the assistance of Mr. Gifford, who was standing near the elevator. He was pulled from the car as it shot past the door.

Mayor Howard, who a few years ago saw a man cut in two under exactly the same circumstances, was visibly affected, as were others who witnessed the rescue.

The aldermen passed an order, without reference to the highway committee, providing for crushed stone sidewalks on Myer street. The highway committee refused to do the work, even after the four representatives from the ward voted the work in under the equal division order passed early in the year. Alderman McMahon presented the order, and it was opposed by Alderman Barden, chairman of the highway committee. Alderman Barden wanted the order laid on the table, but his motion was defeated. The order was passed, with Alderman Barden alone opposing it.

MATRIMONIAL

"Decorations of Riley's cigar store on Fair Oaks avenue today were of a nature to cause considerable amusement and speculation among passersby. The various details being suggestive of matrimony, however, it was found that this was the formal announcement of the wedding of the proprietor, Edward J. Riley, of his marriage yesterday to Miss Minnie Granger of 762 Winona avenue. Mr. Riley is a prominent member of the Elks and Arvans lodges, and knowing the tendencies of his brethren upon such occasions, thought to keep facts concealed until several days had elapsed. This was not successful, however, and as soon as Mr. Riley had left yesterday to go to the residence of Rev. Fr. White, where the ceremony was performed, the work of embellishing the store began, the alluring words, 'Free cigars,' 'Free snuff,' 'Free pipe' and similar legends being inscribed on the windows."

"Only the immediate relatives of the bride were present at the wedding. Mr. Riley has been in Pasadena about a year, and has made many friends. His former home was Lowell, Mass. Miss Granger also has a wide circle of acquaintances, who will be surprised to learn that today she is Mrs. Riley. They are staying for a short time at the home of the bride, while they make preparations to establish their own residence."

Mr. Riley is well known here, having been associated with the Pawtucket bowling boys and cricket base previous to his departure for the west.

OVENS-TIBBETTS

The bride was wearing a white chiffon, with pearl trimmings and veil, carried a bouquet of the double white Killarney roses.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. W. Cummings of the First Baptist church, assisted by Rev. J. T. Carleton of the Centralville Methodist church.

The Germania Ladies' orchestra furnished music. Mr. and Mrs. Owens will reside in Brattleboro, Vt.

The bride was dressed in a gown of white messaline with trimmings of duchess lace and she carried a shower bouquet of white Killarney roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid was gowned in peach colored silk and carried pink carnations. An informal reception and supper followed the wedding at the home of the bride in Lane street and after a wedding trip in the South, Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan will reside in Somerville.

They received many beautiful and costly wedding presents.

ST. VITUS' DANCE

The Cure of This Case Is of Vital Interest to the Parents of Every Nervous Child.

Mr. James F. Thompson, a well-known printer, of No. 801 West Iowa street, Memphis, Tenn., has recently told of a cure in his family that will interest every nervous sufferer. Parents of pale, weak, nervous school children will be especially interested. Mr. Thompson said:

"I have a son, Ray, who at the age of five years was seized by some boys. In about two weeks' time he broke down or gave away completely. He had to go to bed and the doctors said that he had St. Vitus' dance. During the entire night and for many nights he would lie awake and cry. He could not sleep at all, but would roll and toss all night long. His arms and head jerked and twitched and he became so nervous that he could not feed himself. He got so that he couldn't even speak. He had particularly bad spells, which came on about every three months. He was confined to bed for two months when he was first taken sick."

"I had a nerve specialist and two of the best physicians in Memphis with him during the first year of the disease. They couldn't do anything for him and didn't help him a bit. Finally the last physician said that he would have to put him in a sanatorium. I then bought a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They helped him right away and, although he had been sick for a year and a half, he began to eat and to gain strength. I gave him the pills until he entirely recovered his health. He has never had an attack of St. Vitus' dance since. He is attending school and is in perfect health."

St. Vitus' dance, nervous debility or neurasthenia, neuralgia, sciatica, nervous headaches and nervous dyspepsia are due to tired, weak, exhausted nerves. The correct treatment in each case is to build up and purify the blood, which alone can give the nerves nourishment. Unless you build up the blood, it is useless to try to reach the nerves with medicine or nourishment. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain the very elements which enable the blood to nourish the nerves until they become strong.

Write today for the free booklet, "Dis-eases of the Nervous System."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50c. per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.
